EMERGENCY EVACUATIONS

Howling Blizzard Strands Autoists In Sub-Zero Cold

By UPI

A howling blizzard stamped through northern Montana Friday, stranding motorists in subzero cold and forcing emergency school evacuations.

Another storm hit the snow-plagued city of Oswego, N.Y. More than five inches of snow fell on the city which has already piled up 155 inches of the stuff this winter. A school made plans to feed and bed 300 students if necessary.

Weathermen said the Montana blizzard might mean serious weather troubles for the plains states over the week end.

SPECIAL WARNING

The Kansas City Weather Bureau issued a special bulletin warning that the cold blast would probably team up with a low pressure area somewhere in Colorado. The combination could mean a major storm Saturday night or Sunday in the central Plains, the forecasters said.

Montana's storm swept the state on wind gusts of 50 miles per hour. Temperatures skidded 30 degrees in three hours in some areas and blowing snow cut visibility to zero at Cutbank.

North of Browning, Mont., a school bus had to be abandoned eight miles out of town. The children were taken into town in cars. The weather bureau issued warnings to northern Montana schools to get their children home before the storm hit.

Four carloads of Blackfoot Indians were caught by the snows as they drove to Browning to pick up their $100 per capita payments. The Indians were stranded in their cars five miles outside of town, but were not believed to be in serious danger.

Meanwhile, the Montana Highway Department warned all motorists to stay off northern roads. The Oswego, N.Y., storm closed schools in outlying areas and automobiles travelling west from the city were halted and told to return to town.

At the campus school parents kept up a steady stream of telephone calls inquiring about their children's safety. School buses waited outside while school officials debated whether to send the children out in the snow.

Outside the city, a tractor-trailer stalled and blocked traffic on a westbound highway.

Other areas in the nation also had weather troubles. A car ferry took 31 hours battling its way through a Lake Michigan storm from Frankfort to Menominee, Mich., on a trip which usually takes five hours. Another ferry had to turn back, while a third got stuck in the ice.

Chicago posted its 15th day of sub-zero temperatures, just 10 days short of the city's all-time winter record and nine above the season average. Temperatures went to 20 below in the Dakotas and never got higher than 10 below all day at Grand Forks, N.D.

Sign Identifying Village Stolen

LLANTYSILIO GOGGOCH, Wales (AP)—Some thief has stolen the identity of this village.

Detectives worked Friday night on slim clues to the disappearance of the 20-foot-long, 58-letter rail station sign.

The theft chilled the hearts of villagers whose main industry is selling picture postcards of Llanfair. . . etc.

Police had one main lead: a car seen parked in a sinister way nearby the night before the theft. Locals call their village Llanfair P.G. The English meaning of the whole Welsh name is: "St. Mary's church in a hollow of white hazel, close to a rapid whirlpool and St. Tysilio's church."

ADMITS BURYING CHILD

Father Is Cleared Of Slaying Infant

FREDERICK, Md. (UPI)—A county grand jury refused Friday to indict Larry Lord Motherwell on charges that he murdered his infant daughter four years ago and buried her in a pet cemetery.

Motherwell, who also has undergone intensive questioning in the disappearance of a wealthy Washington, D. C., widow, was ordered set free by Sheriff Horace M. Alexander.

The grand jury held there was "insufficient legal evidence" to indict Motherwell in the 1954 death of his daughter, Heather. No charges have been filed against Motherwell in connection with the search for Mrs. Pearl Putney, 72, who has not been seen since she took a trip to western states with him last summer.

Motherwell, 42-year-old construction engineer, steadfastly maintained since his arrest in Las Vegas, Nev., last month that he last saw Mrs. Putney alive in that city in August, 1958. Some $50,000 in securities belonging to Mrs. Putney have been unaccounted for since she vanished.

Hopeful Soviets To Reveal Fate Of 11 On Plane

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States said Friday it hoped shocked world opinion would force Russia to produce the facts in the case of an unarmed U.S. plane allegedly shot down by Soviet fighters five months ago.

The State Department pledged especially to do everything possible to determine the fate of the 11 men still unaccounted for out of the crew of 17 that went down with the Air Force transport over Soviet Armenia.

At the same time, department press officer Lincoln White said he understood that President Eisenhower approved release of tape recorded evidence which this government said showed the Russians deliberately shot down the plane without warning.

2 STATE MEN

(Two Louisiana men, crew members of the ill-fated plane, are listed among airmen unaccounted for. They are ASC Robert H. Moore, 21, a graduate of West Monroe High School, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore now reside in Baton Rouge, and ASC Archie Bourg Jr., 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bourg Sr., Baton Rouge.)

However, White said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles approved the timing of the disclosure, which was made Thursday. Dulles is now in Europe for vital talks with British, French and West German leaders on the Soviet threat to Berlin.

The U.S. evidence included a tape recording of intercepted conversations among the Soviet fighter pilots charged with shooting down the plane and articles from

House Democrats Cut $875 Million Off Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Democrats, in a surprise economy move, slashed $875 million dollars off their catch-all housing bill Friday, leaving it just 440 million dollars bigger than the President's program.

The new pared-down $2,090,000,000 bill was then approved by a House banking subcommittee. It will be put before the full committee Tuesday.

The bill approved by the subcommittee was 565 million dollars smaller than the companion measure which passed the Senate Thursday night.

Republicans protested that it was still too big. They promised to wage a House floor fight to cut it further and to knock out a provision which would authorize an additional 200,000 units of federally-subsidized public housing units at a rate of 35,000 a year.

The paring-down of the housing bill followed a similar surprise Democratic move in the Senate Friday lopping 100 million dollars from a five-year, 565-million-dollar

Cool Ranch Wife Panics Abductor

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Officers captured a jittery ex-convict Friday after a 120-mile-an-hour running gun fight and freed the cool-headed ranch wife he kidnaped 5½ hours earlier for $100,000 ransom.

The amazing plumb of Mrs. Faye Dawson, 65, so panicked her abductor, Charles McArthur, 40, that he was about to let her go when officers, unaware of his intent, started the chase.

Shattered car window glass showered on her during the hectic ride. Blasts from the sawed - off shotgun which McArthur fired out a rear window dinned in her ears. She was tossed about by the car on sharp turns and jolted by the crash of cars which ended the chase.

FEELS FINE

"I'm fine now," she said after the arrest. Mrs. Dawson is the co-owner with her husband, John, of a 700-acre ranch near Dixon.

"The doctor sewed up my little scalp wound and gave me a tranquilizing pill."

McArthur, a balding odd jobs man with a car theft record, made a panicky contrast.

Officers said he told them he had planned to pull the kidnapping job Wednesday night "but I chickened out." Down to his last five

Twins Are Found Brutally Beaten In Family Home

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP)—Twin 3-year-old girls were found brutally beaten in their home Thursday and authorities said their mother would be charged with maiming, wounding and causing great bodily harm.

Diana Williams, one of the twins, is in critical condition.

Mrs. Sue Williams, the mother, 25, is being held for investigation.

County Atty. Robert Green said Diana and Deana, the twins, had multiple bruises and burns on the body. He said the burns may have been caused by cigarettes.

Green said the mother admitted beating them but denied acts of brutality.

She is separated from her husband.

Overcast Skies Predicted Today

Monroe area residents are expected to have a cold and cloudy weekend, with possible showers predicted.

The maximum recorded yesterday was 51, with the minimum on the freezing mark. Thursday's high and low were 65 and 31.

Arkansans may look for dark skies and slightly warmer weather today and tomorrow.

U.S. Charges Violation Of Voting Rights

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—The Justice Department filed suit in federal court here Friday charging the Macon County Board of Registrars with violation of Negro voting rights.

The suit sought a permanent injunction against the board to banish alleged discrimination in the registration process.

The Justice Department made it clear the suit had nothing to do with the federal Civil Rights Commission, which recently completed an investigation of alleged violation of Negro voting rights in three Central Alabama counties, including Macon.

FIRST TEST

The suit also tests, for the first time, the use of segregated facilities in the registration process.

Negroes outnumber whites 7-1 in Macon County, home of famed Tuskegee Institute and located in the heart of the cotton - growing black belt which stretches across the center of the state.

The 1957 Legislature attempted to abolish the county in an effort to maintain white supremacy, but failed when counties surrounding the Negro - dominated territory could not agree on how to absorb it.

Defendants in the suit are resigned registrars Grady Rogers and E. P. Livingston. Both men refused to testify before the Civil Rights Commission hearing here Dec. 8-9.

The department said the men were named as defendants because, under the law, they are required to serve as registration officials until their successors are appointed.

This is the second voting right suit filed by the department's new Civil Rights Division created last year. The first suit charged Terrell County, Ga., registrars with refusal to register "fully qualified" Negroes, four of whom were school teachers. Trial is

8 From Region On Committees

BATON ROUGE (Special)—Eight area persons were named to serve on three subcommittees to explore ways to overhaul Louisiana public school finances.

Sen. James Sparks, Monroe; Ben Holt, Rapides parish; and Travis Thomas, West Monroe, were appointed to study existing resources and distribution of state revenues.

Lloyd D. Leeper, Shreveport, will serve on a subcommittee which will conduct a survey of school financing on national, state and local levels.

Named to observe administration, organization and educational programs of public schools were Mrs. Edmund Conzer, Shreveport; Mrs. Ione A. Hill, Tom H. Scott, both of Monroe; and L. G. Morgan, Shreveport.

Air Force Makes First Launching Of Super Rocket

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The first Titan ICBM thundered majestically over its planned flight path Friday in its debut as the nation's most powerful rocket for war or the peaceful exploration of space.

The 90-foot Titan, designed to hurl a hydrogen warhead across the widest oceans, never faltered during the two minutes its powerful first stage engine burned.

Informed sources said the fledgling intercontinental ballistic missile traveled about 200 miles on its maiden flight—the approximate distance it was supposed to fly.

But these sources said the important factor was that the Titan was successfully launched. This alone, they said, made the super missile's first skyward venture 90 per cent successful.

WHITE GRATIFIED

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Thomas D. White said in Washington that preliminary reports indicated the Titan "successfully accomplished the programmed objectives."

He said he was "extremely gratified."

The Titan made a determined start at 4:22 p.m. EST and rose gradually at first. Picking up speed it "turned the corner" veered toward a more horizontal flight path—about 30 seconds later and forged through a thin blue rift in the smother, overcast sky.

The Air Force took no chances in the first Titan flight test. The missile was not released from its launching stand until six seconds after engine ignition while missile men made sure everything was working properly.

Winds in gusts of about 40 miles an hour boosted the Titan on its

APPEAL DECISION

Alexandria immediately appealed Bryan's decision to Federal Appeals Judge Simon Sobeloff who set a hearing in Baltimore at 10 a.m. EST Saturday. Sobeloff last week refused a stay of integration for the school in neighboring Arlington and Chief Justice Earl Warren of the Supreme Court also refused to grant a stay.

Twenty-one Negroes who entered seven previously white schools in Norfolk and Arlington Monday completed their first week of classes Friday with far less fanfare than when they started. No incidents have been reported in either city. Heavy police forces assigned to the schools were steadily reduced. Curious white crowds vanished earlier in the week.

Bryan, who earlier ordered Alexandria to admit the nine Negroes to two elementary and one high school, said he saw no reason to alter his previous ruling.

Alexandria School Board attorneys Henry Crockett, John B. Phillips and Earl F. Wagner contended the city's second semester already had begun and the city did not have time to prepare for integration.

They are expected to use the

WASHINGTON MARDI GRAS

State Belle Reigns As Queen Of Ball

WASHINGTON (Special)—Linda Guidry, the 18-year-old belle of Opelousas, reigned Friday as queen of the glittering 1959 Washington Mardi Gras Ball at the spacious Sheraton - Park ballroom here.

With her as king of the fete, sponsored by Louisiana's yam growers and hosted by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, was horticulturist Dr. Julian C. Miller, whose strains of yams gave new life to the potato industry.

Linda was presented to the packed ballroom by Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson near the start of a 90-minute program that included most of Louisiana's festival royalty and a host of distinguished Washington celebrities.

She joined Dr. Miller at the raised platform at the end of the ballroom as narrator Lee Coney of CBS news introduced a parade of Louisiana notables who came forward under swirling spotlights.

Accented an all-American theme keyed to the Louisiana State University's national championship football team, Coney introduced Paul Dietzel, coach of the unconquered eleven.

Dietzel escorted another "all-American," Arlene Howell, the Bossier City girl who captured headlines last summer when she was named "Miss USA" and was a Russian air force journal describing just such an incident.

White, terming this evidence strictly "authentic," said, "we hope in the light of revelations of the facts and the shock to world opinion that it has produced, the Soviet government will come forward with the facts in this case."

His appeal came as two unidentified airmen who were killed in the incident were given heroes' funerals in Arlington National Cemetery. The Air Force accorded full military honors and high officials joined 250 airmen in the solemn rites.

The two were among six bodies the Russians acknowledged finding in the crash. They turned them over to U. S. authorities. The Soviets deny any knowledge of the 11 still unaccounted for.

Among those attending the Arlington ceremonies was Mrs. Ila Mello, C lumbia, S.C., wife of one of the American crewmen. Her husband was T. Sgt. Arthur L. Mello, Erie, Pa. He could be one of those buried or one of those still listed as missing.

White did not say what steps the State Department planned if Russia failed to produce any additional information. But other officials said several courses of action were open to this country.

It could level a new demand that Moscow acknowledge its guilt and promise there would be no recurrence. A claim also could be filed for financial compensation for the human and material loss. Or the case could be carried to the International Court of Justice to have Russian conduct in the affair branded as "uncivilized."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said the cut was intended to "meet the president half way" on the airport issue.

TITAN ROARS ALOFT—The Air Force Titan, a bullet shaped intercontinental ballistic missile, roars away from its launch pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Friday in the first flight of the nation's newest war rocket. The first two attempts to launch the 90-foot missile fizzled on the launch pad when the engines automatically cutoff when technical trouble occurred. (AP Wirephoto) way down the Atlantic tracking range in a 10 minute flight. The 110-ton Titan probably rose to an altitude of about 50 miles before it fell into the chilly Atlantic.

Two previous firing attempts, on Dec. 20 and again last Tuesday, ended in engine shutdowns before the cartridge-shaped Titan was released from its launching stand. The long awaited blast-off of the stateley weapon had residents of this missile country keyed up in anticipation.

Only the Titan's booster section, or first-stage, was to be tested in the initial hop of the brand new intercontinental ballistic missile. Its dummy second stage was filled with thousands of gallons of water to make it stable in flight.

Although the Titan was designed as a weapon, it has great possibilities for peaceful space probing. Officials have said its booster section, with the most powerful single rocket engine in the free world, could power a manned rocket on a trip around the moon.

The Titan bears little physical resemblance to its older ICBM brother, the Atlas. The Atlas is little more than a barrel-chested fuel tank with three strong engines strapped to its tail, while the sleek Titan is composed of two distinct sections.

Key statistics on the Titan are secret. But informed sources here said the missile's first stage generates more than 300,000 pounds of thrust, and the second-stage 60,000 pounds. Both propulsion units are made by the Aerojet-General Corp.

The Air Force said the flight was designed to test the compatibility of the body of the super missile its first stage propulsion and control system. The Titan looked like a silver bullet atop a white cylinder with vertical black stripes.

Its potential range probably is more than 8,000 miles—substantially greater than the nominal 6,300-mile intercontinental range.

pending at Columbus, Ga. Friday's suit complained that in Macon white voters registered to vote number 3,016 out of about 3,100 or approximately 97 per cent. The suit says only 1,110 Negroes out of approximately 14,000 or 8 per cent, are registered.

"The disparity between the respective percentages of white and Negro citizens of voting age," the suit contended, "has been brought about and is being perpetuated by racially - discriminatory acts and practices of the defendants."

The suit charged the registrars utilized "different and more stringent standards" for Negroes than for white applicants. It said one regulation applied to prospective Negro voters was that they be able to read and write any article of the U.S. Constitution.

Nye addressed the army lieutenant in charge of the cells familiarly as "Gil" and remarked from time to time, "Gil, don't you think I have had enough of this now? We have an awful lot of work to do." He accompanied the statement with a pat on the lieutenant's arm.

At one time in the interview he asked for a "coffee break" and army attendants rushed out to get him some.

Nye said he was looking forward to meeting Foreign Minister Roberto Agramonte and the army's Adjutant General Maj. Humberto Sori Marin.

Immediately after the interview he was taken from Camp Liberty to police headquarters, presumably for a face to face meeting with Police Chief Ezequiel Almeida.

Permission to see Nye came after a six-hour "sitdown" by American newsmen and photographers at Camp Liberty. It was understood that permission was given after the U.S. Embassy interceded on behalf of the newsmen.

Meanwhile fourteen persons convicted as "war criminals" were executed by firing squads, bringing the total to date to an unofficial 301. The number of Friday's executions was the largest for a single day since 72 were shot to death in Santiago early in January.

Twenty other followers of Batista were condemned to death by revolutionary tribunals.

Sori Marin announced that two new revolutionary tribunals would begin to function immediately in Havana's La Cabana Fortress Prison, bringing the total there to four, in order to expedite the trials of Batista aides.

tion in a big refinancing and in 1955 one produced 32 per cent attrition.

About nine billion dollars of the maturing debt was held by the public. The rest was held by the federal reserve system and government trust funds and was refinanced without effort.

In next week's borrowing, the Treasury will offer investors 1 1/2 billion dollars of 217-day tax anticipation bills. The bills will be dated Feb. 16 and will mature Sept. 21. They will be accepted at face value in payment of taxes due Sept. 15.

The full terms will be announced Monday. Tenders for the bills will be opened Wednesday.

On the attempted 17 billion dollars of refinancing, the Treasury said holders of the maturing securities agreed to accept $1,362,000,000 of the new 3 1/2 per cent certificates and $1,429,000,000 of the new 4 per cent Treasury notes.

Tomorrow's events will get underway with coffee at 7 a.m. and forums from 8:30 until 9:30 a.m. The final business session will be conducted from 9:30 until noon, when the meeting will adjourn.

JAYNES

Special plans for the Jaynes include a business meeting from 2 until 4 p.m. today, and a breakfast meeting tomorrow at 9.

One national Jaycee official, Tom Ollie national vice president, from north Little Rock, Ark., is present for the meeting, along with four state heads.

The Louisiana presidents are Ruffin of the Louisiana Jaycees, Mississippi state head from Yazoo City, Claude McCollum, leader of the Arkansas Jaycees from Russellville, and Bill Farris, Tennessee state president from Memphis.

Other candidates for state and national offices are expected to announce during the 2-day gathering. This meeting is the last one before state officers will be elected at the annual convention in New Orleans during May.

PROJECTS

In pinpointing some of the Jaycee workings during last night's press conference, Ruffin explained that the state Jaycees suggest some 30 projects to local chapters each year. Selection of one, two or more projects is optional for the groups.

Community development was the leading project in the state this year, Ruffin pointed out. Basically this involves conducting a survey to determine what the communities need and want the most.

Other major works tackled by Jaycees in Louisiana centered mostly around youth programs and the long-range tax reform project.

Although projects are usually localized and put on the hometown level, chapters throughout Louisiana coordinated with the national group to rebuild Cameron following Hurricane Audrey.

$25,000 library stands as silent tribute to this cooperation, planning and following through on all levels, Ruffin said.

such as terminal restaurants, cocktail lounges and game rooms.

Sixty-five million dollars of the money authorized by the bill would be parceled out as needed.

Each federal dollar would have to be matched by a dollar of state or local funds.

Of the 100-million dollars a year, 75 per cent would be allocated to states on the basis of population. The remaining 25 per cent would be allotted on the basis of need.

The 65-million dollars would be distributed entirely on the basis of need. Another 10-million dollars if funds already on hand would be added to this program to bring the "emergency" fund up to the 75 million dollar level originally proposed by its Democratic sponsors.

On the final vote on the bill, 12 Republicans switched over to join 51 Democrats in approving it.

Only five economy-bent Democrats voted with 17 Republicans against the measure. They were Sens. Harry F. Byrd (Va.), Spessard L. Holland (Fla.), Frank J. Lausche (Ohio), A. Willis Robertson (Va.) and Strom Thurmond (S.C.).

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) seized the initiative in cutting the bill by offering the 100-million dollar reduction shortly after the Senate started considering the measure.

It was approved by voice vote. Then the Senate killed by a 53-35 vote a GOP attempt to cut 213-million dollars off the Democratic program.

Next to fall, 53-33, was a Republican - sponsored amendment restricting the money to construction of operational aviation facilities.

With that, the Senate defeated an attempt to cut the bill by 157-million dollars and then went on to approve the program and send it to the House.

The bill actually would provide no money. In order to be operative, Congress would have to pass an appropriation bill to provide funds for the program.

Accepted with dissent was an amendment that would require the administrator of the program to take into consideration a showing that private financing was available for any airport terminal facilities.

Rites Set Today For Burn Victim, Area Woman

COLUMBIA (Special)—Miss Avis Duke, 45, died Friday afternoon in a local hospital from burns suffered when her clothing caught fire from a stove in her home here three weeks ago.

Services will be Saturday at 2:30 p.m. from Columbia Heights Methodist Church conducted by the Revs. Ed Hinkle, Jerry Green and Jimmy Bolton. Burial will be in Welcome Home Cemetery near Grayson by Riser and Son Funeral Home.

The remains will lie in state at the funeral home until time for the final rites.

Miss Duke is survived by her mother, Mrs. S. T. Duke; two sisters, Mrs. Clyde Horn and Mrs. Roberta Gregory; two brothers, Carl and Curtis, all of Columbia, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Cool Ranch Wife Panics Abductor

dollars, he managed it the next night.

But investigators said he really cracked after he had taken his nightgown-clad victim from her home in the stolen Dawson car to the basement of an abandoned house.

"Pretty soon he began to worry," Mrs. Dawson said.

"He said he wondered if he had made a mistake and maybe ought to try to get me back. Finally he said he'd drive me to Sacramento and disappear in the crowds there. But by the time we got to Winters, the patrol car was trailing us."

McArthur, after being brought to the Solano County jail, also recalled the basement talks: "She did most of the talking. Then I decided to take her home and turn her loose. I had a change of heart. Besides, it—kidnaping—was out of my line of work anyway."

Pieced together by police, the victim and the abductor, this was the sequence of events:

Thursday night while the Dawsons were with friends playing cards, McArthur broke into their house.

After the couple returned and Mrs. Dawson had put on her nightgown: "My lands! I about dropped dead when here came this man with a stocking on his face and carrying a sawed-off, double-barreled shotgun."

"He told my husband he wanted $100,000 by Tuesday or Wednesday and wanted it all in twenties."

He bound Dawson and told him to lie face down on the floor.

When Mrs. Dawson protested "I can't go like this—get my bathrobe," he wrapped her in a coat and two blankets. Then they left in the Dawson car.

A back road led to the abandoned house beyond Woodland.

"He blindfolded me with one of my stockings he'd taken from my house," she said.

"Then we got out and he told me we'd have to walk over some rough territory. He was very solicitous and had me put my hand on his shoulder as he led me along."

The basement conference and the change of heart followed. The trip toward Sacramento started.

"But by the time we got to Winters, the patrol car was trailing us," Mrs. Dawson said.

"He ran every roadblock. I thought sure I was going to be killed between here and Vacaville. There was all this shooting. Officers shot at the car's tires, fearful of killing Mrs. Dawson if they fired higher.)

"He—McArthur — shot through the back window. I don't know how many times. I was too scared."

"He was still solicitous. He said 'Sit tight, because if they get any closer, I'm going to make a run for it.'"

"He had me climb over the seat and lie down on the floor in the back so I wouldn't get hit. I was back there when we crashed."

McArthur managed to elude several roadblocks during a crazy zigzag pattern of flight. But north of Vacaville, he sideswiped a police car he was trying to pass and slammed into the rear of a Fairfield police car driven by Patrolman Herb Schriber. Police cars roared in from every side.

McArthur got out of the Dawson car hands up. Sheriff's Deputy Al Cardoza snapped on handcuffs.

same basic argument before Sobeloff who last week granted another Virginia City, Charlottesville, a stay of integration until next September. Charlottesville agreed to submit a new desegregation plan for all of its schools later this month.

Alexandria School Supt. T. C. Williams went ahead with preparations to admit the Negroes in case Sobeloff denies the stay.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond was censured by two groups in the heavily Negro populated southern portion of the state for permitting token race mixing in the Norfolk and Arlington schools.

The Halifax town Council passed a resolution saying the governor had failed to "uphold sworn pledges" to maintain segregation. A similar resolution was approved by the Blackstone Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Bomb Scare Sends Police To Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bomb scare sent police hurrying to the Soviet Embassy Friday. An unidentified man dropped a briefcase in the vestibule. Attaches said the man ran away.

The case turned out to contain nothing more deadly than a couple of books and three school diplomas.

Army demolition experts in rubber gloves opened the suspected case.

A tight police cordon was thrown around the area and a search was instituted for a man described by embassy officials as 37 to 38 years old. He was said to be about 5 feet 10, weighing around 150 pounds, of medium build and well-dressed in a dark brown hat and light gray topcoat, wearing horn-rimmed glasses.

Police Capt. Otto P. Fuss said the diplomas in the briefcase were the name of Quentin F. Soik and were from the Jerusalem Lutheran School of Milwaukee, the Walton School of Commerce in Chicago, and a high school in Milwaukee.

Dep. Police Chief Howard V. Covell said the brown case was picked up and pitched into the street by an embassy aide, who immediately called police.

An embassy spokesman said no one was unduly upset, and as a matter of fact, most people in the embassy went right on eating their lunch.

Attracted by the sirens, crowds streamed out of the nearby University Club and National Geographic Society offices.

Sad Danes Call Off Search For Missing Vessel

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—A saddened Danish nation abandoned hope Friday and called off the search for the 95 men, women and children of the freighter H. S. Heddtoft which hit an iceberg in the North Atlantic last Friday.

Prime Minister H. C. Hansen sadly told parliament that after seven days of intensive search efforts the ship must be presumed sunk and the 70 men, 19 women and 6 children aboard lost.

He said small Danish ships would continue searching the area off Greenland for traces of the wreckage.

A U. S. Coast Guard spokesman in New York said the cutter Campbell still was on the scene although snow, which cut visibility to a mile, prevented planes from covering the area. There was no indication when the U. S. search would end.

Up to Friday night searches had found no concrete evidence of the ship although some unidentified objects and oil spots had been sighted by plane spotters.

The H. S. Heddtoft was making the return journey of its maiden voyage to Greenland when it radioed that it had struck an iceberg and was shipping water.

Water Rates

Hearing Pending On 'Adjustments'

A series of "adjustments" now being made in the Ki-Ro-Li Woods Subdivision outside West Monroe will determine whether a hearing will be called on water rates, it was learned yesterday.

John K. McKeithen Jr., Louisiana Public Service Commission chairman, was in Monroe where he said a hearing was pending on "several changes" being made in the area.

Nichols Water Co., owners of the waterline in the area, is making the "adjustments," according to McKeithen.

The question of a rehearing on the rates in the area was brought up after the commission okayed an increase requested by Adcock-Booth, original owners of the waterline.

Queen Observes 7th Anniversary Of British Rule

LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth observed without fanfare on Friday the seventh anniversary of her accession to the throne.

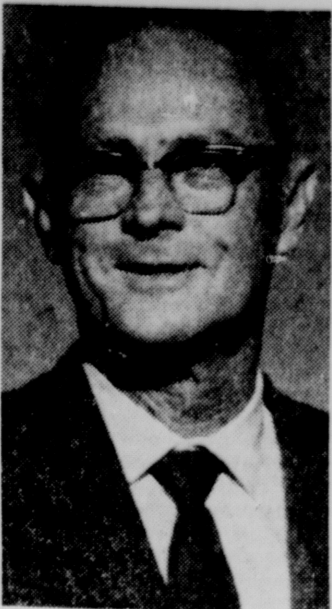

Troops of the Royal Horse Artillery fired a 41-gun salute at noon in Hyde Park and many Britons flew the Union Jack, but for the Queen it was business-as-usual.

The War Office said the 41-gun salute was traditional and that the number had no special significance.

Eight-year-old Princess Anne was the only member of the Queen's own royal family on hand for the occasion. The Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen's husband, was on a tour of Southeast Asia and 10-year-old Prince Charles was away at school.

SALES RECORD SET

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sears-Roebuck & Co. reported its January sales came to an all-time record for the month of $271,008,882, an increase of 14.6 per cent over the comparable month last year. Sales for 12 months ended Jan. 31 were a record $3,937,433,871, up 3.7 per cent from a year earlier.

Benson Gets Criticism On Parity Slash

WASHINGTON (Special) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D) La., said Friday Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's recent parity price slash for cotton and rice was "unconscionable."

Ellender referred to Benson's change in the method of calculating the parity price figures which had the effect of cutting cotton parity a cent a pound and rice 20 cents a hundredweight.

The change is a revision of the method of calculating the parity price, a complex statistical process. It is not a change in the percentage of parity used as the support price. When the parity price goes down, however, the support rate drops in proportion.

Ellender said, "I would be the last to accuse Mr. Benson's bookkeepers of adopting brand new statistical procedures to cover up for the fact that his sliding scale price support program has failed."

But, the senator added, it is "plain fact" that the statistical juggling enabled Benson to report that the January parity index was 82 while the old method would have given a lower figure of 79.

The parity index is a number that compares farmers' costs to their expenses. The higher the standard of living enjoyed by farmers.

Ellender said Benson made his change "without warning" to farmers or to Congress. "Mr. Benson could not have been unaware," he added, "of the emphasis placed upon support prices — as opposed to support levels expressed as a percentage of parity — during congressional consideration of price support legislation."

The senator said that actual support prices for cotton grown this year under standard allotments will be down about 75 cents a hundredweight as a result of the change in the parity calculation. Rice supports will drop about five cents a hundredweight the reduction in support rates is less than the cut in parity prices because supports are below full parity.

POSES AS KILLER FOR HIRE

Detective Foils Plot For Slaying

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A detective posing as a professional killer foiled the plot of a 48-year-old spinster to kill the wife of her employer she said she loved.

Pauline Weiss, a tall, bespectacled brunet, was held in $5,000 bail for court Friday charged with solicitation to commit murder and attempt to commit murder.

John J. Kelly, chief police inspector, said Miss Weiss confessed in writing to paying $225 toward a $600 fee for the murder of Muriel Griffin, 53, of suburban Devon. The balance was to have been paid COD—"collect on death"—of the intended victim.

Thursday police sprung a trap on the lovelorn secretary. The professional killer she hired for the slaying turned out to be a detective.

The object of Miss Weiss' affections is Willard K. Griffin, 58-year-old publishing firm executive described by his friends and neighbors as a happily married man of 33 years. The Griffins were pictured to police investigators as being devoted to each other. He is the kind of husband who stays home every night, one neighbor said.

Both Griffin and his wife, a short, matronly, gray-haired woman who spends most of her time in the garden of their stone and frame ranch-type home, expressed shock at the plot on Mrs. Griffin's life.

Griffin, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., said he never noticed anything unusual in Miss Weiss' behavior toward him during the three years she worked for him. He described her work as all right and added she had met his wife on several occasions both in the office and at home.

Miss Weiss was described as a pleasant but uncommunicative neighbor by one resident of the area in which she lived. The plain-looking woman has a $120 a month three-room apartment. Neighbors said she completely refurbished in the modern style shortly after moving in six months ago. She spent most of her nights watching television, police were told.

Kelly said the arrest was made after Miss Weiss paid $150 to a city detective, Peter Noga, who was posing as a professional killer. Police were tipped to the plot by an underworld character who had been given $75 by the secretary to get her a man for the job.

Police recorded conversations at several meetings between Miss Weiss and the informant. A final

Game Law Case Is Continued In Concordia Court

VIDALIA (Special) —The case of Franklin Parish Tax Assessor Willie Reems and five other Winnboro men all charged with a game law violation was continued here yesterday until March 6.

Reems and an attorney for the group appeared in District Court before Judge Jesse McGehee and requested that the case be continued.

Arrested along with Reems were C. L. Sanders, James Edmonson, Robert Wood, Billy R. Sanders and James Swift for the illegal possession of doe deer meat.

They were arrested in Concordia Parish December 18 by game agents Ed Fairbanks, A. D. Swayze and Nick Neihaus.

meeting was set for 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Noga was selected to play the part of the killer. A sharp-featured man, who formerly was an undercover agent for the narcotics squad, Noga met Miss Weiss in an automobile.

"She wouldn't look at me," Noga said. "When I asked her for suggestions on how it was to be done, she said she would leave that up to me."

She described Mrs. Griffin, and gave Noga the home address. She then gave him $150 on account and left.

The next day police picked her up.

Supreme Court Law

Hopes of many citizens and law-makers include a bill in Congress this session which would limit or spell out the legislative powers of the Supreme Court according to the constitution.

From the south there is the majority opinion that the high court needed congressional curbs as early as 1954. While the remainder of the nation had no reason to share the south's sentiments in that particular matter, lawyers and thinking statesmen from all states have awakened to the dangers of court edicts over state and federal law.

Momentum is gaining in another field—that of stopping the court from continuing its sweeping pro-Communist and pro-criminal decisions. In particular, the case which reversed the decision of a Pennsylvania court in the sedition case against Steve Nelson caused alarm in legal circles.

Nelson was one of the highest Communist leaders in the United States. He was the director of general Soviet spy activities through which many American atomic secrets were made available to the Russians.

He was convicted of sedition among other things by a Pennsylvania court and the decision was upheld by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. Subsequently, the U. S. Supreme Court threw out the conviction on the grounds that the federal government already had laws against sedition, and these superseded the state laws.

If the effect had been only to free Steve Nelson, it would have been bad enough. But the decision—that there were already federal laws and therefore the state laws were null and void—could go a long way toward confusing the entire legal machinery of the country. Sedition statutes in 42 states apparently were voided. Enactment of sedition laws at the state level would now be unconstitutional.

At present, Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire has introduced a bill to limit the appellate powers of the Supreme Court in such matters as the Nelson case. Chances for passage are not too bright because of the radical elements of both major parties now in office.

During the last session of Congress, such a bill passed the House and missed passage in the Senate by only one vote. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas did some surprising work behind the scenes to gather votes against the bill and secure its 41-40 defeat.

Talk of "congressional tampering" with the Supreme Court is as foolish as the absolutely false cliché now making the rounds that the high court is the "supreme law of the land." The constitution does mention that treaties hold this function—not the Supreme Court.

It is not only the business of Congress to pass legislation dealing with the Supreme Court when such legislation is necessary. It is the duty of Congress to take action, and past sessions have done so on more than one occasion.

Letters From People

Most newspapers give a part of the space on their editorial pages to people who want to write expressions of their views. The letters usually are carried under such headings as "Public Forum," "Views of Our Readers" or "Voice of the People."

In some areas there have been complaints that the newspapers are punitive, provincial and discriminative in their selection of letters to be published. The contention is that an effort is made by the papers to police thought according to their own ideas.

There is no evidence to support such a belief. Most newspapers which carry letters from the people do so for five principal reasons, all of them related. First, there is the desire to win the friendship and good will of the readers by allowing them to express their own viewpoints. Second, there is a genuine desire on the part of the editors to learn what the people of their area really think and feel about various situations. Third, there is a wish to let all of the readers know what the other readers think. Fourth, the newspapers want to be fair and the best way they know to be fair is to give everyone a voice. Fifth, the letters contribute to reader interest.

Letters thoughtfully and sincerely written in decent taste and tone and on timely subjects are virtually certain to be published if they are properly signed by the writer. Scurrilous, indecent, vindictive and libelous letters are not published by any responsible newspapers.

Most papers publish the letters either in their entirety or so nearly so that none of the value of the content is lost. Editors do not censor the context of the letters. To do so would destroy the value of letters from the people.

Letters to the editor are always welcomed.

School Discipline

A large proportion of Louisiana's school officials and teachers, along with many other people, probably gave a good deal of silent attention to a Brooklyn grand jury's recommendation. That grand jury came out in support of a proposal to allow public school teachers to paddle misbehaving students.

The jury recently completed an investigation of classroom violence. Its report drew a sympathetic observation from County Judge Samuel S. Keibowitz, who said:

"We who deal with the problem of crime in the public schools know through bitter experience that, unless we return our teachers to positions of authority which they held in former years, we might as well throw up our hands."

It was largely feeling akin to that of Judge Leibowitz that brought back thrashings to the schools of Louisiana, although the question of its legality has never been fully determined. In some instances Louisiana courts have held that only parents or guardians have the right to apply corporal punishment to children. Other rulings have seemed to indicate that teachers may have the same privilege.

In practical use, it boils down to the fact that either the teachers may exercise whatever authority is necessary to obtain discipline or the student is expelled from school, with his parents likely to face fines for not sending him to school.

In some ways, this flexible set-up may be about as good as any. It allows the teachers to maintain necessary control and at the same time acts as a deterrent to those who might be tempted to use the rod as the answer to all problems. Most corporal punishment in schools now is administered by principals, assistant principals or other disciplinary officials, tending to eliminate discriminatory punishment. The middle course seems best.

SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Book Says John Hanson First U.S. President

I wonder how much it really matters whether William Shakespeare wrote the plays and sonnets of William Shakespeare. When one reads "Hamlet," is he, at this distance, concerned with the authenticity of the author or with the perfection of the artistry? Or does it really matter whether Homer was Homer or 10 guys named Smith?

This thought came to me as I perused a pamphlet which makes quite a to-do over the fact that the author insists that not George Washington but John Hanson was the first President of the United States. This goes into the other question, namely, did the United States come into existence when the Constitution was ratified or at some other date? It is a matter of what the fact-weary person calls semantics.

But as there is always somebody to look up an obscure fact and to do a research job and to write a thesis or a book, therefore ultimately everything comes to the surface, like in a television murder. And so now John Hanson comes to the surface in a pamphlet with a yellow cover.

The facts are simple. The Articles of Confederation were passed on March 1, 1781, the last state to ratify being Maryland. One of the delegates to the Congress in Philadelphia from Maryland was John Hanson. Article I of the Articles of Confederation states:

"The Style of this confederacy shall be 'The United States of America.'"

It is interesting that throughout this document the term united states is spelled with a small u and a small s and the phrase, "the united states in congress assembled" seems to characterize the government. In a word, at one period John Hanson presided over "the united states in congress assembled" but he was not a member of the "Commissioners to Remedy Defects of the Federal Government" which met at Annapolis on September 11, 1786.

The organization of the United States was not easy. First of all, the country was at war. Secondly, each state was sovereign, had come into existence in a different manner and had different charter rights, laws and even traditions. Union was desired but at what price? Many of the states feared the dangers of nationalism, of a strong centralized government which would deprive the sovereign states of their sovereign rights. It was necessary, if only for survival, to establish such an effective government as the Federalist advocated.

In the subsequent development of the United States, John Hanson's name does not appear significantly. He was not a member of the Maryland delegation to the convention which drew up the Constitution. Those delegates were James McHenry, Daniel (this name seems to be confused with another), Daniel Carroll, John Francis Mercer, Luther Martin. John Hanson disappears, even as you and I shall one day do.

And so, despite the pamphlet and all my labors to discover the historic significance of John Hanson, I find little reference to him. In the scholarly work of Charles C. Tansil in his "Documents Illustrative of the Formation of the Union of the American States," I find but one mention of John Hanson.

So, I shall celebrate the birthday of George Washington, "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." From every standpoint, he was our first President, the leading citizen of our country and an extraordinarily brilliant person who had brains enough to serve only two terms and not even want a third term. He might have become a dictator like Stalin or a demagogue like Castro, or a king like Tito. He avoided all that and became a simple citizen of his country, living in quiet retirement like Cincinnatus of old.

He gave to the presidency a form and dignity which it still possesses despite the many unfortunate personalities who have held that high office. But for most Americans, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln remain our foremost Presidents, both saddened by the tortures of war, both seeking unity and greatness for their country, both growing greater in stature as distance gives a clearer perspective to the principles that guided them.

It may be interesting research to discover this and that figure in our history of more than three centuries, but few reach the stature of Washington who had the rare quality of self-restraint and the foresight to recognize that leadership requires sacrifice if it is to be of historic grandeur.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Hyperthyroidism Treatment Aired

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am a middle-aged businessman who can't afford to be too long absent from my work. I have an overactive thyroid. I have been told that I have the choice between operation and treatment with radioactive iodine. What would you do? Mr. L. L. O.

ANSWER: The decision is neither yours nor mine; but entirely your doctor's. And it will depend upon much more than how much time you can safely lose from your business. A few weeks either way are certainly of little importance when measured against a future of many years.

It is true that the beneficial effects of surgery are immediately effective. Nevertheless, the effects of radioactive iodine don't take, by comparison, as long as you might imagine. Really, little or no time is gained by surgery.

When radioactive iodine therapy is given, it is agreed that there is little effect for two or three weeks; then clinical improvement becomes fully evident within 2 months.

But you must remember that the surgical patient loses time BEFORE his operation. He must be "prepared for surgery" with antithyroid drugs for 4 to 6 weeks and with iodine the last two weeks.

So you see, Mr. L. L. O. the question of time itself should never be allowed to influence your doctor's judgment. Which treatment is better for you "in the long run" should be the most important consideration.

PREMENSTRUAL TENSION

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have been happily married for five years. I have never suffered from any wifely tantrums. Other husbands tell me they do every month. Is there really such a thing as premenstrual tension? M. T.

ANSWER: Unquestionably, premenstrual tension is an actual medical entity. I have observed hundreds of cases in practice. I have seen it create much marital misunderstanding and unhappiness. Fortunately, most men learn to accept these periodic "minor crises" in their married life. As many a married man has said to me: "It's not the poor girl's fault. Sure I get mad at her, but I'm really more sorry than angry."

Here is the opening from a recent article on the subject in the magazine called "MD": "For uncounted ages woman has suffered under the charge that she is moody by nature and that periodic tears and tantrums are a part of her lot. She is thus often the last to realize the severity of the psychosomatic stress that precedes her menstrual flow. Is unaware that her tantrums have turned her into a 'part-time witch' (Phrase used by Dr. Erle Henriksen at the 1956 annual Congress of the American College of Surgeons, San Francisco)."

"New light on this oldest of female problems is shed by recent studies that revealed premenstrual tension to be a major factor in domestic discord, feminine crimes of violence, accidents among women drivers and pilots, economic loss from female absenteeism and spoilage. Other less serious manifestations merely brand woman as 'circuit' or 'cantankerous' at certain times."

ARTERIOSCLEROSIS IN THE ZOO

Excerpt from a recent Research News letter from the American Heart Association: "After a 40-year study of birds and mammals which died in the Philadelphia Zoo, two scientists have reported they found a high frequency of arteriosclerosis, or narrowing of the blood vessels, and they attributed it not so much to aging or diet as they did to 'social pressure' resulting from an increased animal population in the zoo. This 'social pressure,' caused an imbalance in the secretion of hormones by the adrenal glands."

HAL BOYLE

Killing Time Is Tough Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the hardest things to kill successfully is—time.

It is a particularly tough problem in the modern business office. There the average man or woman has to spend eight hours doing work he could actually do in three hours.

This leaves him the task of pretending to look busy for five hours. You think this is easy? Well it isn't. What professional actor wouldn't be worn out by a five-hour performance?

Yet office employees have to do this day after day after day—all year long.

They are trained workers, not trained actors. It isn't the three hours of daily work that makes them gray and feeble before their time. It's that five hours of daily acting—acting like they're busy when they aren't.

Some employees never learn the trick. Others give performances that would make John Barrymore in "Hamlet" look like a high school sophomore.

The chances are, however, that you will find at least some of the following typical examples of time-wasters in your own office:

The Endless Wanderer—All day long he wanders from the desk to the water cooler to the rest room—then back to his desk for five minutes, and on to the water cooler again. At 40 he has kidney trouble and fallen arches.

The Groundhog—He crawls into a tunnel in the pile of debris on his desk, and emerges only at lunch and quitting time.

The Dutch Wife—If cleanliness were godliness, this guy would sit at the right hand of the heavenly throne. He cleans his desk, his telephone, his swivel chair, his memo pad — and still has two hours left to devote to polishing his spectacles.

The Hypochondriac—He wastes so much time taking pills to improve his health that he ends up to sick to be fired.

The Open-eyed Sloth—HE appears to be studying some office figures. Actually he is daydreaming, with his eyes wide open, of the girl he lost in kindergarten.

The Poor Deceiver—this poor fellow is so dumb he can't pour of anything to do except to make paper airplanes and sail them out the window. He is off the payroll in two weeks.

The Self-Improver—that looks volume of an encyclopedia he is studying so hard. In reality it is a volume of an encyclopedia he is reading, page by page. His goal is to read the whole set on company time before he reaches retirement age.

The Coffee Break Artist—He can make a 15-minute coffee break last longer than a Roman orgy, but somehow he never gets caught. He is the secret office hero.

The Authentic Genius—this mental giant figured out that if he ran in and asked the boss's advice every half hour, he could waste two people's time instead of one. But the boss, grateful at feeling useful too, has given him three raises in the last year. Everybody hates him for his brains. But he doesn't care. Who else is smart enough to get the boss to do his work for him?

Loading for a living is the hardest kind of work. It can get you down if you let it worry you. The guy who gets ahead in the hard, competitive business world of today is the guy who can waste time busily—and still wind up at nightfall with his chin up and smiling, eager to face the same ordeal tomorrow.

Radio Network Contract Given Firm In Chicago

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana Friday awarded a Chicago firm a $197,770 contract for a statewide two-way shortwave radio network, useful for normal highway operations and civil defense emergencies.

Highway Director R. B. Richardson said half the cost would be paid by the federal government. Motorola Communications and Electronics Inc. received the contract.

The network will provide instant communications between Highway Department headquarters in Baton Rouge and district offices in Marrero, Hammond, Alexandria, Monroe, Bossier City, Lafayette and Lake Charles.

Civil Defense participation will help pay initial costs.

Richardson said, "the value of such a network in time of war, civil strife, national emergency, national disaster or enemy attack can be easily seen."

"Life is merely imaginary," says a metaphysicist. Even if so, most of us are going to do our utmost as long as possible to continue to imagine we're living.

Daily Devotional

Seek the Lord, and ye shall live. — Amos 5:6.

There is good reason to believe that people outside God's family have never really lived. They are often "tossed by every stormy wind that blows" and have no firm anchor when there are tempests to be met. Those who are skeptics would do well to expose themselves to God's Word by attending church and Sunday school — and by daily reading of the Bible. Under such circumstances, faith is apt to come. In buying a new car you would "test drive" it. Why not start testing the Christian way of life by going to church and Sunday School tomorrow?

O God, may skeptics be led to test Thy love and power and to seek the saving grace of Thy Son. In His name we make our prayer. Amen.

HUMPHREY IS TARGET

Soviet Premier Blasts Senator

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says some of U.S. Sen. Hubert Humphrey's (D-Minn.) reports about their eight-hour interview were fairy tales. He practically called the senator a liar.

The text of his address to the final session of the Communist party congress as published Friday revealed a scorching attack on Humphrey. Khrushchev said he outdid Baron Munchausen, the legendary teller of tall tales.

Khrushchev denied he gave the Minnesota Democrat secrets to take back to President Eisenhower. He called it unthinkable that he would talk confidentially with Humphrey about relations "with our best friends, the leading people in the Communist party of China."

Khrushchev said that Yugoslavs had leaped upon Humphrey's remarks about China. Humphrey had been quoted in the United States as saying Khrushchev, though reluctant to discuss China, referred to the system of communes as old-fashioned and reactionary, based upon the doctrine: To each according to his needs, from each according to his ability.

That is a basic Marxist doctrine, and by saying that about China, Khrushchev would have been denying established dogma. In Moscow's view, Communists it calls revisionists in Yugoslavia are endangering the world Communist movement by refusing to follow Moscow's lead on ideological matters. Khrushchev said the Yugoslavs were trying to drum up stories of Peiping-Moscow difference, and using Humphrey in their support.

"You will remember that this senator recently visited the Soviet Union and I had a talk with him. In the expectation of a noisy sensation, Humphrey, in his speeches and articles, told fairy tales — three bags full of them—such as the story that he had brought a special message from the Soviet government to President Eisenhower—of course no such message existed at all—and that I had confided two important secrets to him," Khrushchev said.

"Indeed, I could find a better partner to share secrets with than Mr. Humphrey!" he said.

"Sen. Humphrey's wild imagination ran riot when he began to take up his inventions about the relations between the Soviet Union and the Chinese People's Republic. In this he even exceeded the well-known compiler of fabrications, Baron Munchausen.

"And now the Yugoslav revisionists have taken this fabricator unto themselves as a witness. The very idea that I could have been in any way confidential with a man who himself boasts of his 20-year struggle against communism can only serve to raise a laugh.

"Anybody who has the slightest knowledge of politics, not to speak of a knowledge of Marxism-Leninism, will understand how unthinkable a confidential talk with Humphrey would be on questions of the policy of Communist parties or our relations with our best friends, the leading people in the Communist party of China.

"Evidently, matters are going so badly with the Yugoslav revisionists that they are picking up all sorts of ridiculous inventions."

En route home from Moscow, Humphrey said in London Dec. 6 he was carrying a significant message from Khrushchev to Eisenhower. Later Humphrey said Khrushchev told him the U.S.S.R. had a ballistic missile capable of firing a warhead 8,700 miles.

Blood Ailment

Causes Death

Of Tallulah Boy

TALLULAH (Special) —Funeral services will be held today for a 10-year-old boy who loved life so much that he lived normally despite the threat of death which hung over him constantly, and paid the greatest price for his actions.

Darrell Ray Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, suffered from hemophilia, an affliction in which the blood does not clot and one small cut can be fatal. But, he tried to overlook it. He attended the fourth grade of the Tallulah Elementary school, and the Baptist Sunday school.

One week ago, while at play, he was hit on the head. Not the kind of a blow that looks fatal. But in Darrell, it caused internal hemorrhaging. Surgery was impossible. The youngster died yesterday morning, in a Delhi hospital.

Saturday, at 4 p.m., the Rev. G. C. Kirksey, pastor of the Tallulah Assembly of God Church, will officiate at last rites for the child, in the chapel of Crothers Funeral Home.

Burial will be in the Silver Cross Cemetery.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by three brothers and one sister, Jerry and J. D. Hill, Tallulah; Odell Hill, Tampa, Fla.; and Mrs. A. G. Barker, Tallulah. Madison Hattaway, H. C. Ashley, L. A. Wilkins and Hersel Henson will be pallbearers.

When the taxpayer read the other day that the government is now paying only $10 each for wastebaskets for executives, instead of $27 which it paid last year, he was so pathetically grateful for this consideration of him that he broke down and wept a little.

Postponed

An organizational meeting of the Ouachita Parish State Rights party, which was originally scheduled for last night, was postponed until a later date.

An announcement of the future meeting will be made later.

Topics

Prayer, and the Name of Jesus, will be topics of Mrs. Robert A. Fletcher's speech, when she appears before the Prayer Group of Grace Episcopal Church at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A resident of Dallas, Tex., Mrs. Fletcher is the leader of several prayer groups there, and has initiated many other similar groups throughout the country.

She is well-known as a prayer counselor. Members of the church stated that this will be an open meeting for all interested persons to attend.

Engine Trouble Forces Landing Of Aircraft Here

An American Airlines plane, with 20 passengers aboard, made an emergency landing at Selman Field last night after the ship developed engine trouble. The plane had no trouble in landing, but made the stop rather than continue its trip from Houston, Texas, to Nashville, Tenn.

American Airlines does not normally fly over Monroe, but sometimes uses the airline as an alternate route.

Some of the passengers were transferred to other airlines, Delta and Southern, to continue their trips. A few were reported to have waited until the engine trouble could be repaired.

Company mechanics from the Tulsa, Oklahoma, hanger flew into Monroe to make the repairs late last night.

FURNACE RELIGHTED

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (UPI) — U.S. Steel Corp. said it relighted another iron-producing blast furnace here Friday in addition to two open hearth furnaces scheduled to go back into operation next week. Spokesmen said the actions reflect improved steel buying.

Mrs. Butler, 87, a resident of Monroe for several years, died Thursday night at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Lillie Shepard, 2022 Filhol, following a lengthy illness.

Survivors, in addition to Mrs. Shepard, include: four daughters, Mrs. Fannie Richie, Swartz, Mrs. Molly Littleton West Monroe, Mrs. Luna Clary, Monroe and Mrs. Eliza Williams, Rayville; and two sons, Walter Butler, Swartz and Dan Butler, Eudora, Ark.

Grandsons will serve as pallbearers.

men, who were released, were not identified.

The apartment also boasted a patriotic trio of telephones — one red, one white and one blue. These it turned out, had been tapped by police—with a court order—for 24 hours before the raid.

Decorations in the apartment besides Virginia, included Beatrice Garfield, 29, the madam of the departed autumn episode; Barbara Jackson, 26, a platinum blonde, and Gayle Siney, 23, just a blonde.

Ex-Teacher Is Arrested In Vice Raid

NEW YORK (AP)—Last Oct. 2 when blonde schoolteacher Virginia McManus was arrested in a vice raid, she haughtily insisted: "I don't take my clothes off in front of people."

Her sole interest, she said at the time was literature, which she taught at a Brooklyn high school.

Virginia was acquitted of a prostitution charge on that occasion and freed to the further pursuit of literature—although the Board of Education dispensed with her classroom services.

But early Friday, another set of vice raiders came upon the hazel-eyed Virginia once again. And she wasn't engrossed in literature. She was in the apartment of a madam friend, the same one with whom she had been picked up last fall.

Furthermore, the raiders claimed to have established to their satisfaction that Virginia does, too, take her clothes off in front of people—specifically in this instance, they said, in front of an out-of-town male with whom she was cavorting in the nude.

"Are you enjoying the view?" was Virginia's quoted rejoinder this time when the forces of law and decency interrupted her. The answer, if any, was not preserved for posterity.

The locale of the latest nocturnal adventure of the 25-year-old ex-schoolmarm was a $350-a-month, 12th floor apartment on E. 63rd St. It was tastefully furnished. There was a white living room bar. There were two baths. There also were, police said, two gents in various stages of disarray. The

PRESIDENT IMPLIES

Cold War Rules Out Russia Visit

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower promised Friday to consider visiting the Soviet Union if the Soviet leaders mend their ways to an extent world peace would be advanced. A White House statement which boils down to that—in comment on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's informal invitation to Eisenhower—said also that the President has no plans to go to the Soviet Union.

The clear implication was that Kremlin threats and demands in the East-West cold war rule out an Eisenhower visit at this time.

The statement, issued at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters by press secretary James C. Hagerty, questioned the sincerity of the Khrushchev invitation in noting the President has received no formal bid.

When Khrushchev spoke at the Communist party's 21st congress, Hagerty declined comment on the informal invitation. He said there had been no opportunity to study the text of the speech.

At a news conference Friday, Hagerty volunteered a statement before reporters got a chance to bring up the matter again.

"Premier Khrushchev's invitation to President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union occurred in a lengthy speech which contained very hostile references to United States leaders," it said.

"It seems strange that Premier Khrushchev, if he really welcomes a visit by the President, would extend it in such circumstances."

"The President has no present plans to make such a visit—in fact, he hasn't received any invitation except through the reports of an off-hand invitation extended in a political speech."

"Ever since he has been in office President Eisenhower always has made it clear he was willing to go anywhere in the world if, by so doing, such a visit would serve the cause of peace."

"Should future developments suggest that a visit to the Soviet Union or anywhere else would serve to advance this cause, then it certainly would be considered."

The statement was issued after Hagerty had conferred with the President at the plantation estate of his vacation host, former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

In his speech, Khrushchev said Eisenhower would be "net in the Soviet Union with sincere hospitality and would be free to go anywhere he cared to."

He complained that Eisenhower seemed to have ruled out a Khrushchev visit to the United States, but said he would not insist on an invitation to this country as the price of any Eisenhower trip.

In his speech, Khrushchev said Eisenhower would be "net in the Soviet Union with sincere hospitality and would be free to go anywhere he cared to."

The President decided against ignoring the Khrushchev bid—or dismissing it as just a propaganda maneuver.

Instead, Eisenhower left the way open for acceptance of a formal invitation if cold war developments should warrant it on the basis of a change in the Kremlin attitude.

The current impasse is underscored in Khrushchev's new challenge to accept a proposition the Western Allies already had emphatically rejected. That is the proposal to make West Berlin a "free" demilitarized city under United Nations responsibility.

The White House allusion to Khrushchev's hostile references to U. S. leaders apparently was to his criticism of Eisenhower himself, as well as Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The Premier said those leaders and other Americans have been reverting to belligerent language in speeches.

Airliner Makes Island Landing

TOKYO (UPI)—A Japanese airliner with 37 persons aboard, including the secretary-general of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, made an emergency landing on Wake Island with a crippled engine, it was announced Friday.

The four-engine Japan Airlines plane was enroute to Tokyo from Honolulu with 9 crewmen and 23 passengers, including SEATO Chief Pote Sarasin, when it was forced to land Thursday.

Solons To Probe Crash Of Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee Friday ordered an on-the-spot investigation of the crash of an American Airlines turboprop transport into the East River in New York.

The subcommittee assigned to the task also will look into the safety of other turboprop and jet planes now going into service.

MCLENNAN HANDICAP

Bardstown, Nadir Meet At Hialeah

By GENE PLOWDEN
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Calumet Farm's Bardstown and Claiborne Farm's Nadir meet again Saturday in the $30,000 added McLennan Handicap with seven others opposing them in the mile and a furlong feature at Hialeah.

Bardstown probably will be an even money choice despite his top impost of 126 pounds, the same weight he carried while winning the $50,000 added Tropical Park Handicap four weeks ago.

Steve Brooks will ride the 7-year-old gelding, who has won 17 of his 28 starts and earned $341,162.

Nadir, winner of the American Derby and Select Handicap last year, gets in with only 118 pounds, four less than he carried in the Tropical 'Cap where he finished third.

There was some question as to who will ride Nadir. Bill Hartack has been piloting the big A. B. Hancock horse but John Sellers worked him this week and trainer Moody Jolley said he will not announce the jockey until Saturday morning. Hartack's agent, Chick

AT BOSTON GARDEN

Delany To Risk Unbeaten Record

BOSTON (AP)—Ireland's Don Delany risks his unbeaten indoor mile record against three other sub-four minute competitors Saturday night but the high jump and pole vault may steal the spotlight.

The occasion is the 70th Boston AA Games at Boston Garden which is boasting two firsts:

The first indoor meeting of four men who have run a mile in less than four minutes outdoors—Delany, Brian Hewson of England, Sweden's Dan Waern and Poland's Zbigniew Orywal.

The first indoor duel of high jumpers who have cleared seven feet—John Thomas, 17-year-old Boston University freshman, and Olympian Charlie Dumas.

Delany, seeking his 27th consecutive banked-board mile triumph, has covered the distance outdoors in 3:57.5. His won world indoor mile standard of 4:03.4 may be lowered in the classic battle.

However, the kick-finisher Vilanova graduate student remains the favorite because the race will mark the debut on Hewson and Waern on boards.

Seldom has a classy foreign runner done well in his first try at smoke-filled air and 22 tight, banked corners.

Waern, 25 year old Swedish champion, ran three successive miles in less than four minutes at the close of the 1957 season. His best effort was 3:58.5.

Hewson (3:58.9) won the European 1,500-meter crown last summer with Waern and Delany following him across the tape.

Orywal ran seventh in that race but later, running his first mile in London, lost to Herb Elliott despite a 3:59.7 clocking.

How high is up for Thomas?

That question comes up for consideration when the amazing

WMAC Boys Win Golden Gloves Titles

SHREVEPORT, La. (Special)—Albert Craft and Floyd Borden of the West Monroe Athletic Club won championships Thursday night in the North Louisiana regional Golden Gloves boxing tournament at Shreveport.

Craft took the open middle-weight crown by decisioning Walter Henagan, a 27-year-old Alexandrian who's been fighting for 11 years. Craft was selected the tournament's outstanding boxer by a panel of judges.

Borden decisioned Winnfield's Eddie Crawford for the novice heavyweight championship. West Monroe's Mike White was second among the novice flyweights, losing to Ray Arnold of the Shreveport YMCA.

Other northeast Louisiana fighters who won championships were Sherman Roberts of Winnfield, taking the open welterweight crown for the third time, Conley Adams of Winnfield, novice lightweight titlist, Weldon Gordon of Winnfield, open bantam winner and Winnfield's Donald Austin, fleaweight champion.

The Shreveport YMCA won the team title with Sportatorium AC second and Winnfield third.

elimination meet are R & A Jewelers and the Wildcats of Monroe, Weston, and Rustin Crumbz, the Eros All-stars, Ray's Amoco of Bastrop, and First Presbyterian and Sheffield Conoco of Shreveport.

Host R & A Jewelers, carrying a 13 game winning streak after dropping the season's opener, has a couple of top point-makers in former La. Tech ace Jerry Lovett and L. V. Norris. Rounding out the R & A squad are George Davis from Northwestern, Frank Mancil, Chester Coaker, L. J. Fontenot and Hugh Calhoun.

Sheffield Conoco will be led by 5-10 Bob McLenore, a Kilgore Junior College product. The Sheffield club currently ranks third in a Shreveport recreation league.

Bob Williams, a 6-10 center from the University of Arkansas, and "Sister" Anthony, a high school All-American, at Pleasant Hill are expected to spark First Presbyterian. Also slated to see action are Buster Carlisle, Southwestern Memphis, Bill Bailey, La. Tech, Wayne McGee, Baylor and Charles Brown of La. College.

Weston has an ex-Northeast hoopster, James "Flopp" Shiveley, Johnny Busby and Crawford Vines, Dickie Crox and Lyle Dorsey give the Wildcats a couple of sharpshooters, and Dickie Hinton is a standout for the Crumbz, composed of Tech students.

Bob Pickering and Jimmy Moore give Eros a strong scoring punch and Ray's Amoco has including jockey Howard Grant.

A number of trophies, awards and prizes will furnish an added incentive to competing players, as well as fans in attendance. Trophies will go to the top three teams in the tourney and to the player selected "Mr. Basketball."

Other awards will be presented to the most valuable player, the tournament high scorer, the best coach and the best sportsman.

Silver miniature basketballs will be awarded the first ten players on the all-tournament squad.

Door prizes for spectators include a miniature barbeque set, a set of steak knives, a large valentine cake, a bottle of perfume and a pair of cuff links.

The tournament is being sponsored by merchants throughout Monroe.

R & A meets Weston in the tourney opener at 10 a.m. followed by the Wildcats vs. Rustin Crumbz at 11:15. Completing first round play, the Eros quint battles Sheffield Conoco at 12:30 and First Presbyterian takes on Ray's Amoco at 1:45.

Semi-finals are set for 3 and 4:15, with the consolation game, scheduled for seven. Finals will be held at 8:30.

Admission for the tournament is 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

Dumas has done 7-12 outdoors. As an added attraction, Swedish and European champion Rickard Dahl who has leaped 6-11½ will be on hand. So will George Dennis (6-10) and Charlie Stead (6-9).

After a three month layoff, Thomas has turned in these four competitive jumps since mid-December: 6-10½, 6-11, 6-11½, 7.

Pvt. Don Bragg vaulted 15-6½ last week and is seriously threatening Cornelius Warmerdam's 16-year-old world indoor mark of 15-8½. His chief competition will come from world outdoor record-holder Bob Gutowski (15-9½).

In a last-minute switch, defending champion Dave Scuplock of North Carolina was forced by illness to withdraw from the 1,000-yard run and was replaced by Lt. Bobby Seaman, formerly of UCA.

Mike Rawson switched from the 1,000 to the 600. The Englishman predicted he could run it in 1:10 despite his unfamiliarity with the boards. Olympian Charlie Jenkins will defend.

Carol Heiss Opens Lead In Skating Meet

TORONTO (AP)—Pert Carol Heiss of Odense Park, N. Y., opened a commanding lead Friday in her bid for her second straight North American figure skating championship. Another American, Tim Brown of Colorado Springs, Colo., moved in front at the halfway mark of the senior men's competition.

Miss Heiss, the world champion, showed such superiority in the compulsory school figures that little short of the theft of her skates could keep her from retaining her title in the free skating phase winding up the competition Saturday night.

She accumulated 57.7 points for the six school figures compared to 52.3 for runner-up Lynn Finnegan, 16, of Boston.

Brown, runner-up to teammate David Jenkins in last week's U.S. nationals, has more of a battle on his hands.

With 533.3 points, Brown is challenged by Bob Brewer of Alhambra, Calif., and Canadian champion Don Jackson in a men's competition tossed wide open when Jenkins, the defending champion, passed it up to concentrate on his medical studies at Western Reserve University.

Going into Saturday night's free skating wrapup, Brewer has 533 points and Jackson 529.9. Jackson, runner-up to Jenkins in last year's world championships, is considered a better free skater than Brown.

HARTACK'S START
CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — (UPI)—Jockey William Hartack, one of the country's top riders, won his first title when he rode 24 winners at the 19-day autumn meeting at Charles Town in 1952.

He since has won three national championships.

Lang, claims he has a contract to ride the Claiborne star but Jolley says he never heard of it.

Regardless of his rider, Nadir probably will be second choice to Bardstown with Fairlawn Farm's Sharpshooter, winner of the Capital Valley Forge and Diamond State Handicaps and the Narragansett Special, third choice. Sharpshooter carries 116 pounds, including jockey Howard Grant.

Outsiders in the race, which will gross $65,200 and net the winning owner $41,280 if all nine start include Mrs. T. Christopher's Amerigo, with Chris Rogers making up most of his 113 pounds; Mrs. S. H. Sadacca's A Dragon Killer, 114, no rider assigned; Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Air Pilot, 110; Jack Leonard; Edward Seinfeld; Admiral Vee, 114, no boy; Alfred G. Vanderhill's Village Idiot, 110; with Sam Bonduetti up; and Ralph Lowe's Maestro 2nd, 112, no boy assigned.

The McLennan will be televised nationally by NBC from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m., EST, with post time 4:45 p. m.

youngster again faces Dumas. Last week Dumas chased John to a new indoor world mark of seven feet at the Millrose Games.

Dumas has done 7-12 outdoors. As an added attraction, Swedish and European champion Rickard Dahl who has leaped 6-11½ will be on hand. So will George Dennis (6-10) and Charlie Stead (6-9).

After a three month layoff, Thomas has turned in these four competitive jumps since mid-December: 6-10½, 6-11, 6-11½, 7.

Pvt. Don Bragg vaulted 15-6½ last week and is seriously threatening Cornelius Warmerdam's 16-year-old world indoor mark of 15-8½. His chief competition will come from world outdoor record-holder Bob Gutowski (15-9½).

In a last-minute switch, defending champion Dave Scuplock of North Carolina was forced by illness to withdraw from the 1,000-yard run and was replaced by Lt. Bobby Seaman, formerly of UCA.

Mike Rawson switched from the 1,000 to the 600. The Englishman predicted he could run it in 1:10 despite his unfamiliarity with the boards. Olympian Charlie Jenkins will defend.

Byrd Beats Bastrop In 1-AAA Scrap

BASTROP, La. (Special)—Forwards Bob Watson and Jimmy Williams accounted for 47 points between them as Byrd downed Bastrop, 61-49, in a District 1-AAA contest here last night.

The win upped the Yellow Jackets' loop mark to 3-3, while Bastrop dropped to 2-4.

Williams scored 24 points on 11 field goals and 2 charity shots and Watson sank 9 fielders and 5 foul tosses for 23 points in the Byrd rout.

Larry Brakfield of Bastrop took scoring honors for the night with 26 points. High-scoring Troy Spizner was held to a subpar 6 points.

Byrd was in front 26-22 after one half, and held the Rams to 3 points in the last quarter while chalking up 17 to put the game on ice.

Eugene Farr tallied 16 points to pace Byrd's "B" team to a 43-31 verdict over the Bastrop frogs. George Madison collected 13 for the losers.

Captain Claims Russians Proved Themselves Best

LONDON (AP)—Russia's basketball captain Friday claimed his team proved itself the strongest in the world championships in Chila—despite its disqualification.

Maigoris Valdmans said in his return to Moscow: "We have done our job and the decision of the International Basketball Federation depriving us of the gold medals can do nothing about it."

Moscow Radio quoted his comments: Russia and Bulgaria were stripped of all their points in the world championship because they refused to play Nationalist China. Brazil took the world championship.

SMALL COLLEGES

Grambling Leads In Team Offense

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Wilcox of Davis and Elkins, a 6-5 junior from Pittsburgh, has taken a 4.6 point average lead in the small-college basketball individual scoring race.

Wilcox has scored 483 points in 14 games for the West Virginia school, according to statistics released Friday by the NCAA Service Bureau. Wilcox upped his average to 34.5 points as a result of a 36.1 points a game spree in his last four outings. He is also the leader in rebounding with a 23.4 average.

Pete Reese of Cedarville, Ohio, is second in scoring with 29.9 followed by Carl Brune of Lowell, Mass., Tech with 29.1.

Joe D'Auria of Tusculum, Ala., continued to set the pace in free throw accuracy. He has converted 62 of 66 attempts for .939. Charles Harper of Wiley, Tex., is next with .938, the result of 45 conversions in 48 tries.

Edmund Delk of McPherson, Kan., is the top field goal shooter with a .638 percentage. The figures include games of Jan. 31.

Fort Necessity Triumphs Easily

CROWVILLE, La. (Special)—Favored Fort Necessity boys, the defending champions, routed Wisner, 88-57, while defending girls' titlist Central was ousted by Winnboro, 42-39, here last night in the Franklin Parish Basketball Tournament.

All-state A. J. Burelaw sank 20 points to pace Fort boys over Wisner. Wisner's Joe Blair, however, was the game's high scorer with 24 points.

Winnboro rallied from a five-point deficit at the end of the third period to come from behind in the fourth quarter to defeat Central. Kathryn Blake of Central led the titl's scorers with 24 points while all-state Claudine Watson sparked Winnboro with 20 markers.

Crowville boys whipped Ogden, 50-38, as J. Q. Weatherly scored 14 points, Jerry Anders got 11 for the losers.

Baskin boys stopped Gilbert, 66-52. Charles Burns led Baskin's offense with 20 points while Shelton contributed 15 points to the Gilbert attack.

Ferrier Scores 3rd Hole-In-One

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Veteran Jim Ferrier, North Hollywood, Calif., Friday scored the third hole-in-one of the 1959 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

Ferrier holed his seven iron tee shot on the 137-yard third hole at the Arizona Country Club for the eleventh ace of his career.

Rebel Girls Win Cage Twin Bill

All-state Nancy Smith scored 23 points to lead West Monroe's varsity sextet to a 39-29 victory over Neville to complete a sweep of an all-girls doubleheader here last night.

Coach Lou Lewis' Rebel freshman girls dropped the Felines in the night's opener, 26-14.

West Monroe's varsity squad pulled away from an 8-8 tie after two minutes in the second period and kept the lead the remainder of the game. Miss Smith netted 12 points in the first half to give the hosts a 16-10 margin at intermission.

The Rebels led by six points throughout most of the third quarter and maintained a ten point lead in the fourth.

Ann Chapman took runner-up honors for West Monroe with 5 field goals and 2 foul shots for 12 points. Neville's Cecilie Meneut, scoring on a variety of shots looped in 20 points.

Leading 7-5 after a slow first half, the host freshman sextet hit consistently in the second stanza to triumph in the first game. Glenda Thrasher led the winners with 13 and Kay Sanchez's 12 was tops for the losers.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Matchmaker George Parnassus Friday set the wheels in motion for a world title fight between bantamweight champion Alphonse Halimi of France and Joe Becerra of Mexico here this spring.

Parnassus said he will talk by telephone shortly with Halimi's manager, Philippe, Filippi, in Paris to iron out such details as a date, probably between April 20 and May 3, possible television deals and similar matters.

The 21-year-old Becerra earned the title shot Thursday night when he stopped a gallant ex-champion, Mario D'Agata of Italy, in 10 rounds at the Olympic Auditorium.

The 33-year-old D'Agata has never been knocked off his feet in more than 350 amateur and professional fights, and Becerra couldn't do it either.

But the rangy gladiator from Guadalajara had Mario's right eye swollen the size of a pullet egg and shut and an ugly gash under the left eye.

D'Agata's manager, Steve Klaus, asked referee Frankie Van to halt the contest between the 10th and 11th rounds. Under California rules, it goes into the records as a knockout.

Steelers Want Stadium Change To Raise Gate

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers, disappointed with attendance at their home football games in Pitt Stadium last year, want to return to Forbes Field for the coming season.

Art Rooney, president of the National Football League club, said Friday he has asked the Public Auditorium Authority for permission to break the Steelers' lease on the stadium.

There was no immediate comment from the authority.

The Steelers played all their home games at 34,000-seat Forbes Field, home of the Pittsburgh Pirates, until last year when they moved to 57,000-seat Pitt Stadium. Attendance dropped from 168,97 in 1957 to 140,592 in 1958 despite the Steelers' improved 7-4-1 record last year and the fact that they won their last seven games.

Inclement weather was a factor in the poor attendance. Pitt Stadium has no covered stands as does Forbes Field.

Former U.S. Senator William Blakely of Texas presented a golden key to Mantle telling him this opened Exchange Park to him. Exchange Park is a business development where Mantle's lanes are located.

Mantle, Ford and Duren all have not signed 1959 contracts with the Yankees.

But Ford said, "We are so close that I believe we will reach an agreement by Monday." He added that he thought the contract would be satisfactory to both parties.

Duren said he didn't anticipate any trouble signing although he had sent his contract back. "My wife has already signed for me in San Antonio," (his home), he grinned.

Mantle would say nothing about his contract except that he had returned it unsigned and had not heard anything about it from the Yankees.

He added with a laugh, "I think they are mad at me."

Okla. Ace Out For Season

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The Oklahoma basketball team Friday lost for the season the services of 6-foot-6-inch Del Heidebrecht—the team's best free thrower, second high scorer and third best rebounder.

A torn knee cartilage suffered during a road trip nearly a month ago finally became so troublesome and operation was decided upon. It will be done within a few days.

Paul Rand Dixon, counsel of the Senate antimonopoly subcommittee, questioned whether the federal government has any control over local closed circuit television. He said he understood Skiatron proposed to operate wholly within California. Thus there would be no interstate aspect for the government to consider.

Block finished second in the southern half of the district.

Tech Invades McNeese For GSC Contest

RUSTON, La. (Special) — The Louisiana Tech cagers go after their fifth straight Gulf States conference win Saturday night in a game with McNeese State in Lake Charles.

Tech dealt its third loss in 17 games Monday night by Mississippi Southern in Hattiesburg. The Bulldogs hit only 28 per cent from the floor, their worst showing of the season.

In a previous game here, Tech downed McNeese 74-60. Tech is 4-0 in the GSC, while McNeese has won three and lost three.

Tech threatened to turn the Southern game into a rout in the early minutes, racing to a 20-11 lead. Southern came back to tie it 33-33 at the half and then pour it on the cold shooting Techmen in the second half.

Sub-par shooting by Jack Moreland and Ray Germany, which accounted for a 72-69 loss to Centenary earlier, also caused the Bulldogs misery in the Southern contest.

After playing McNeese, Tech returns here for another GSC scrap Tuesday night against Northeast State.

Johnstone To Play McIntire For Golf Title

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Curtis Cup teammates Barbara McIntire of Lake Park, Fla., and Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa, posted semifinal victories Friday in the Palm Beach Women's Golf Championships.

Miss McIntire nosed out the veteran Marge Burns of Greensboro, N. C., 2 and 1. Mrs. Johnstone, after a poor start, rallied to rout Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md., 6 and 4.

Gusty winds off the Atlantic Ocean made the going difficult and each of the four women had her share of trouble.

Short putts which failed to drop contributed to Miss Burns' loss. On the 17th green, she needed only to sink a 2-foot putt to halve the hole and stall off the finish. But she missed it and Miss McIntire won the hole and ended the match.

Miss McIntire was 3 up after five holes and 2 up leaving the front nine.

Mrs. Johnstone had early trouble with the wind, trees and water holes and was 1 down at the fifth. Then fine fairway shots which left her with short putts enabled her to win the ninth to 13th holes in succession.

Miss McIntire and Mrs. Johnstone meet Saturday in the 18-hole championship match.

18TH BRAVE IN FOLD

Low Burdette Signs But Teammates Balk

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Low Burdette, the balkiest Brave of them all last year, mailed in his signed contract Friday. But some members of the defending National League champions appear to be in no hurry to do likewise.

The 32-year-old right-hander, who fidgeted his way through 20 victories in 1958, is the first of the Braves' big pitching guns to fall in line. A year ago, he was a holdout for 13 days.

No terms were announced. However, it is believed he received a substantial raise over his 1958 contract, which reportedly called for $35,000.

Burdette, who is spending the off-season fishing around his home at Sarasota Springs, Fla., and peddling real estate, was the 18th player signed by Milwaukee.

There are some easily recognizable names among the 23 still out of the fold.

Among them are pitchers Warren Spahn, Bob Buhl, Joey Jay, Juan Pizarro, Gene Conley, Bob

15 Females In Santa Anita Event Today

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Fifteen fillies and mares, topped by C.V. Whitney's Bug Brush, were entered for Saturday's $50,000-added Santa Margarita Handicap at Santa Anita Park.

Winner of the Los Flores and Santa Monica Handicaps in easy fashion earlier in the meeting, Bug Brush, a 4-year-old daughter of Nasrullah, will carry high weight of 126 pounds, including jockey Angel Valenzuela.

Second high weight will be carried by Llangollen Farm's Galarullah, with 118 pounds aboard. Jockey Manuel Ycaza has the mount since Llangollen's usual rider, Eddie Arcaro, is on suspension.

Six-year-old Born Rich from the Poltex Stable won the mile and one-eighth Santa Margarita last year. She's back for another try, with impost of 114. Ycaza rode her last year. Bill Boland has the ride Saturday.

Highly regarded are the King Ranch's Well Away, carrying 116 pounds and ridden by Ray York; the Kerr Stable's Millie K., 115, with Henry Moreno up; Elmen-dorf Farm's Two Cent Stamp, 113, with George Taniguchi in the saddle; and Galarullah and Born Rich.

Round out the field in the entries were Gleaming Star, stablemate of Bug Brush; Nushie, Hellow Junedean, Penumbra, Sally Lee, Summer Storm, Commodore, Midnight Date and Annie-Lu-San.

Willie Shoemaker, leading rider at the meeting, will ride Rex C. Ellsworth's Midnight Date. Shoemaker will be seeking his fifth victory in the Santa Margarita.

If all 15 start, the race will gross $59,700, with the winner getting $36,000.

NAVY RELAYS FAVORITE

LEXINGTON, Va. (UPI)—Maryland and Navy are favored to win the team events Saturday night at the Virginia Institute's eighth annual winter relays. More than 300 athletes from 19 schools are expected to take part in the games.

Trowbridge, and reliever Don McMahon.

Carl Willey, rookie right-hander who posted 9 victories from June 15th on, and veteran Bob Rush are the only pitchers of note who are set salarywise for 1959.

Others who have not agreed to terms offered them by the richest club in the National League are Hank Aaron, Andy Pafko, Joe Adcock and Mel Roach.

Spahn, Aaron and Conley have publicly expressed their dissatisfaction with initial contracts proffered by Executive Vice President Birdie Tebbetts.

All have indicated the next move is up to Tebbetts.

Birdie, who is handling contract negotiations this season only, has said he isn't worried about his recalcitrants.

Tebbetts apparently feels he can talk them into signing between now and March 1, the deadline.

"I don't look for any real trouble," he said.

York Rangers at Detroit's Olympia Stadium before 11,307 spectators Thursday night. The loss was the Red Wings' third in a row. They have won only four of their last 22 games.

Only four of the 18-member squad escaped fines, and only two of them took regular turns last night. The latter were Forbes Kennedy and Lou Maroon.

Similar fines by General Manager Tommy Ivan of the Chicago Black Hawks seemed to shake them up, Abel said in expressing hopes his assessments would do the same for the Red Wings.

Ivan hit the then lowly Black Hawks $100 whacks Oct. 23 after they had lost 9-1 to Montreal. Since, Chicago has come on and is now tied with New York for second place in NHL standings.

Detroit, league champions eight out of the last 10 years, currently are in fifth place, only a single point above the tail-end Toronto Maple Leafs. The Red Wings' next game is against Toronto here Saturday.

Besides Kennedy and Maroon, those who escaped fines were Warren Godfrey, who was injured and didn't play, and Norm Ullman, who played only in the first period because of an injured foot.

Abel laid out the fines at Friday's practice. Red Wing spokesmen declined to reveal what player reaction developed, if any.

One of those fined was Gordie Howe, whose line Abel centered for years as a Red Wing fixture.

Red Wing President Bruce Norris gave his players a bawling-out after the loss, striding into the dressing room behind them and ordering the doors locked.

The action was unprecedented on the part of the 6-foot-5 Norris, who has left the bawling and praising heretofore to General Manager Jack Adams and Abel.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Reverie Knoll Farm's Jet Colonel balled at the weight assignment and distance in Saturday's $10,000-added Louisiana Handicap and W. Hal Bishop's Pete's Folly took over the favorite's role.

Jet Colonel, a speed-burning son of 1947 Kentucky Derby winner Jet Pilot, drew a 121-pound impost for the mile and one-sixteenth feature at the Fair Grounds. The "Colonel" won four of five earlier starts, but all were over the shorter six furlong route.

Pete's Folly, winner of two handicaps at the same distance earlier in the meeting, will be the field's top weight at 120 pounds. Bishop also entered Maribu to accompany his handicap star to the post.

Top competition for the Bishop entry is expected from Joe W. Brown's Tenacious, who won last year's renewal, and T. A. Grissom's Shoerullah. Tenacious, who has been a bit off form in recent starts, will have a pull in the weights at 117 pounds while Shoerullah will carry 113.

Other probable starters include Crimson King Farm's Nunya; Joe Gavagnano's High King; Fred Benner's Sage of Alief; and Circle "K" Farm's On The Job. Should all eight start, the race will gross $12,775 with a check for about $9,000 going to the winner.

Ruston Beats Neville Frosh

Ruston's Cubs handed the Neville Frosh cagers their second loss of the season, 44-41, here yesterday afternoon.

Barnore and Sheffield collected 16 points each to pace the winners, while Frank Keith and Truitt Nolan led Coach Danny Hoak's Tiger quint with 18 and 10 points, respectively.

Neville now has a 13-2 record for the year.

'Cats Facing Crucial SEC Cage Tests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Kentucky's Wildcats start a March through Mississippi Saturday night and if they escape the two-game trek without a loss, they'll be a lot closer to the 1959 Southeastern Conference basketball championship.

Saturday's foe is Ole Miss—on a "neutral" court in Jackson. The Rebels are tall and fast and have two of the league's top shooters—but still they have lost 10 while winning only seven.

Kentucky's chart reads 17-1 and it is expected to be 13-1 when the Wildcats invade Mississippi State, another one-time losers, Monday night.

In order to remain on equal worsted terms with the Wildcats, Mississippi State must get past Tennessee tonight. The Maroons are favored on their home court but the battle between Bailey Howell and the Vols' Gene Tomohlen should be interesting. They are rated the best big men in the league.

Auburn, which can't be nudged out of first place in the league standings until somebody beats the Plainsmen, play host to Georgia. And the Bulldogs are expected to become victim No. 27 in the current Auburn string, longest in the nation.

Other games are Florida at Alabama, Georgia Tech at Tulane and Vanderbilt at Louisiana State.

Larry Doby Prepares To Play 1st Base

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—Sluggish Larry Doby, an outfielder for 12 major league seasons, hopes to play first base with the Cleveland Indians this season in a radical move that "should add several years to my career."

"I see by the papers that (Manager) Joe Gordon has me down for first base," said the 34-year-old Doby. "That's fine with me, I figured when they got Jimmy Piersall from Boston that I might be shifted from center field."

"I talked it over with Vic Wertz, who moved from the outfield to first, and I'm convinced the change will help me. There's less physical strain for one thing. Vic told me once you've played first base you don't ever want to go back to the outfield."

Doby, who hit .283 in 39 games last season and lifted his lifetime total of big league homers to 253, has played only one complete game at first base in the majors.

"That was in my second big league game," he recalled. "I also played some shortstop and second in my first year. After that it was all outfield. Near the end of last season we played an exhibition against Cincinnati. Wertz got hurt in the second or third inning and they put me in at first base. I thought then maybe Gordon had something up his sleeve."

Doby is high on his team's 1959 pennant chances.

"Piersall and Billy Martin should put a lot of fire into our club," he said. "Vic Power will be with us from the start. But the guy who can make the big difference is Herb Score. He should win 15 games even with a bad year and you know what 15 games can mean in the standings. Those injuries he had the last two years really hurt us."

Doby reports he's in good shape after a winter of almost complete rest.

Glenn Davis To Compete At Michigan State

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Glenn Davis, Ohio State's track handyman, heads a list of collegiate stars running in the 36th annual Michigan State Relays here.

More than 400 entries have been received from 29 colleges and universities. Host team Michigan State, Iowa, Purdue, Michigan and Wisconsin from the Big Ten are sending strong delegations.

All the Big Eight schools except Oklahoma State will be running.

Davis will concentrate on 75-yard low and high hurdles duels along with Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan, a rival Olympic contender.

Davis will also cross over to the broad jump pit where his chief competition will come from Ernie Shelby of Kansas, one of 11 jumpers in history to clear 26 feet.

Bob Shaw Signed As Frisco Aide

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bob Shaw of the Baltimore Colts coaching staff has been signed as assistant to Coach Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers, Hickey announced Friday.

Hickey said Shaw will coach the ends and flankers and assist with the backfield of the professional football team.

Shaw, 42, a native of Fremont, Ohio, had been end coach and scout for the Colts for the last two years.

Hickey said the signing of Shaw completed the 49ers' coaching staff.

DEFENSIVE STRATEGIST

McLaughry Named Head Football Coach At Brown

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Brown University Friday night named John J. McLaughry of Amherst College as its 13th head football coach.

The 39-year-old McLaughry who brought outstanding success to the Lord Jeffs was signed to a five-year contract. Brown President Barnaby C. Keeney announced. The salary was not disclosed.

McLaughry succeeds Alva Kehley who left the Bruins to accept a similar post at Colgate.

McLaughry thus follows in the footsteps of his father, Deormand (Tuss) McLaughry who shifted from Amherst to Brown in 1926 to start a prosperous quarter century at the Ivy League institution.

"I am delighted that John McLaughry is returning to Brown," President Keeney said in announcing the appointment at the annual dinner meeting of the Alumni Advisory Committee.

McLaughry was captain and quarterback of the 1939 Brown eleven.

"He is unusually well qualified to serve as our head coach of football," Keeney added. "The son of one of Brown's famous coaches, Tuss McLaughry, he has never been content to rest upon his father's laurels. He has, instead, made an outstanding record of his own, both as a player and a coach."

"He is thoroughly familiar with the traditions and aims of Ivy League football, for they have been a part, not merely of his undergraduate years, but of his life. We welcome him back to the campus and we look forward with confidence to the future of Brown football under his leadership."

In accepting his contract, McLaughry replied:

"I have always kept in close contact with Brown and I am happy to be coming back. I feel that Brown football has come a long way and has a fine future."

McLaughry scheduled a meeting with Brown authorities Saturday morning to discuss the make-up of his staff. He said he would be happy to retain the services of present Brown aides Milt Piepul, Joe Restic and Charlie Markham if they want to stay.

McLaughry's Amherst teams in nine seasons compiled a record of

Controversy Over Veeck Deal Rages

CHICAGO (AP) — White Sox, White Sox, who's got the White Sox?

Baseball's big mystery boiled more merrily than ever Friday as Vice President Chuck Comiskey sought legal proof that Bill Veeck wants to buy a majority holding in the club from Chuck's sister, Dorothy Comiskey Rigney.

At the same time, Dorothy's attorneys called a news conference Friday to "give the complete story on what this thing is all about."

The gag has developed that writers covering the White Sox should be court reporters. And well it might be.

Chuck, who has been feuding in the courts with his sister for more than a year over Sox stock, Friday asked Probate Court to get numerous documents pertaining to her handling of stock in the club.

One of the documents Chuck wants is a reported option Veeck holds until Feb. 18 to buy Dorothy's 54 per cent stock interest in the club.

Last Monday, Comiskey petitioned in Probate Court to have this option declared null and void. Dorothy promises sports writers a look at the documents in question Saturday when she will reply to Chuck's latest suit.

What about Veeck?

The flamboyant former major domo of the Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns still has high hopes of buying Dorothy's stock for his syndicate.

While the deal reportedly was in the bag more than a month ago, the delay presumably has been caused by Veeck's attempt to also buy out Comiskey, who said he was not interested in selling.

Chuck is determined to hold his share of the club and vainly has tried to buy out his sister, who apparently wasn't satisfied with his offer.

It is reported reliably that Veeck is going to buy out Dorothy regardless of the current legal brother-sister legal fuss.

Martinez Beats

Joe Ngidi In Melbourne Bout

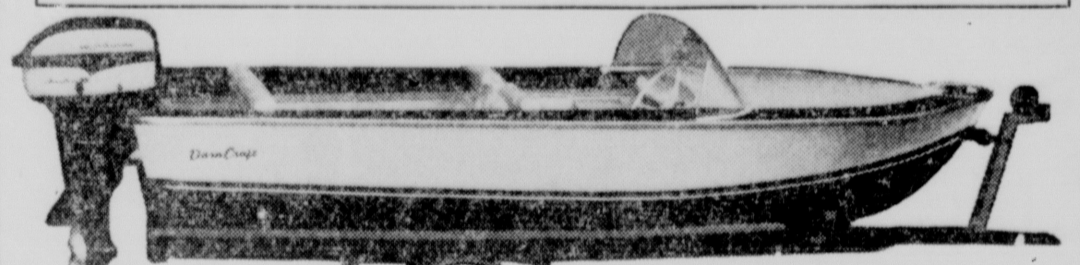

MELBOURNE (AP) — Middle-weight Jimmy Martinez of Phoenix, Ariz., Friday night outpointed Joe Ngidi, a South African Zulu, in a dull 12-round bout at the Melbourne stadium. Martinez weighed 156½, Ngidi, 150½.

The globe-trotting American built up a big lead in the early rounds. Ngidi, cut over both eyes, rallied from the eighth round on and several times staggered his foe with thumping rights to the jaw.

Martinez outclassed his opponent in the early rounds, scoring with left jabs and short rights. In the seventh round the crowd began clapping hands and shouting for action.

Many Return To Red China For Holiday

HONG KONG (AP)—Thousands of Hong Kong's Chinese residents are streaming through the Bamboo Curtain to celebrate the Chinese New Year with relatives in Red China.

British guards at the border station that separates this crown colony from Communist China say the number crossing over has hit 2,000 a day for the past week. Daily traffic normally totals a few hundred in each direction. The travelers carry re-entry permits that will get them back. They are not abandoning capitalism for communism.

If anything, they're taking a little taste of capitalism with them for luxury-starved relatives. They're loaded down with suitcases and boxes packed mostly with food—smoked hams, salt pork, fruit, candy and lunar New Year rice cakes.

Ironically, most of the food originated in Communist China. Peiping exports it to Hong Kong for economic and political reasons, but limits supplies its own people get.

The New Year or Spring Festival Feb. 8 this year—traditionally is the biggest holiday in China and food is one of its main features.

In years past, the Communist authorities tried to abolish the traditional celebrations on grounds that time was too precious to waste on feasting. They relented this year and declared a three-day holiday.

The celebrations start Saturday, New Year's Eve, when families gather around tables heaped with delicacies to say farewell to the Year of the Dog and usher in the Year of the Pig.

At midnight each neighborhood will explode fireworks.

In prerevolutionary China, much of the time in between setting off fireworks was spent gambling. Peiping has prohibited gambling now and even the fireworks probably will not be as extravagant as they used to be.

The coming year is considered lucky for anyone born in the Year of the Pig, which falls once every 12 years. So this is the lucky year for anyone who celebrates his 12th, 24th, 36th, 48th, 60th, or 72nd birthday.

Chinese fortune tellers have already scanned the birthdays of Communist China's leaders. None of the top five was born in the Year of the Pig.

Most of those who favor "daylight saving time" really want more daylight to waste.

Landscaping By The Individual Is Club Topic

The West Oak Garden Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter Gray on Mallory Place. The guest speaker for the evening was Wiley Roach, well-known local nurseryman. Mr. Roach chose as his topic landscaping by the individual homeowner. He also answered many questions which the club members asked concerning their gardens and shrubs.

After the speaker's talk the meeting was turned over to the president, Mrs. Hugo Angelini, who, at the conclusion of minutes, etc., told the group of several projects the club had been asked to take a part in. The members voted to give a donation to the Ouachita Parish Library for the beautification of the grounds of the new library now under construction. The group also voted to subscribe to a Garden Club Book Club in order to have good reference materials available to the members as well as to build up a club library. The group also decided to take part in the flower arrangement displays at the Garden Center during February. Mrs. Harter, Mrs. Thompson, and Mrs. Gray volunteered to make arrangements with the help of Mrs. Angelini.

A new member was welcomed into the club: Mrs. O. E. Brandon. Special guests attending were: Mrs. J. H. Kern, Mrs. Evelyn Scarpulla, and Mr. Wiley Roach. Members present were: Mrs. Jack Whitehead, Mrs. Benoit Williams, Mrs. Louis Evangelista, Mrs. Joe Nash, Mrs. Jack Pert, Mrs. Pat Thompson, Mrs. R. J. Goza, Mrs. Joe Birchfield, Mrs. Hugo Angelini, Mrs. R. F. Taichman, Mrs. W. M. Jones, Mrs. J. F. Windham, and the hostess, Mrs. Walter Gray.

MRS. OPIE CARL GRENN, JR.

Miss Ford Becomes Bride Of Opie Carl Grenn Jr.

In afternoon ceremony Sunday, January 25, in the Waterproof Presbyterian Church, Reverend William E. Giddens heard the vows of Miss Gloria Marie Ford daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer E. Ford and Opie Carl Grenn Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Opie C. Grenn, of Brookhaven, Mississippi.

Graceful arrangements of pink gladioli and white stock combined with magnolia leaves in tall baskets and burning cathedral tapers ornamented the altar.

Miss Jane Gill, at the piano, rendered a program of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Billie Justice, soloist.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her gown was fashioned of candlelight bridal satin. The closely fitted bodice featured a portrait neckline outlined in lace medallions which were re-embroidered in seed pearls. The long sleeves ended in petal points and were buttoned with tiny self covered buttons. The bouffant skirt of unpressed pleats was worn over crinolines and fell in graceful fullness. She wore a small satin hat embroidered in pearls and silver beads from which fell her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a bouquet of white calla lilies tied with satin streamers.

Miss Esta Ann Ford was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Grenn, Miss Adah Grenn, both sisters of the bridegroom and Miss Willie Spruill. They wore identical dresses of winter pink taffeta made with fitted bodices with portrait necklines and short sleeves. The full skirts were worn over bouffant petticoats and their shoes were dyed to match their gowns. They wore small hats covered with winter pink petals and carried crescent bouquets of white carnations.

The candlelighters were Miss Susan Ford, another sister of the bride and Miss Dianne Crosby. They were dressed in aqua taffeta and wore wrist corsages of pink carnations.

George Grenn served his brother as best man. The groomsmen and ushers included, Roland Carter, Jackie Parsons and Boyce Bullock.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Ford were hosts at the reception held in the Waterproof Youth Center. Mrs. Ford received her guests in a becoming Empire sheath dress of rose beige jersey made with bodice of embroidered satin. Her accessories were beige and she wore a single white orchid. Mrs. Grenn chose for her son's wedding a gown of blue and white silk print with harmonizing accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride's table and smaller serving tables were covered in pink lace over pink taffeta. An antique epergne filled with pink carnations and stock centered the cake table. Assisting in serving were Mrs. C. W. Klanke, Mrs. Roland Carter, Mrs. G. M. Robb, Miss Lucy Merle Sibley, Miss Elizabeth Goldman and Miss Mary Nelson Moss.

For her wedding trip to New Orleans, Mrs. Grenn was wearing a suit of black cashmere with black shoes and bag and a hat of white beaver trimmed in white satin. They will make their home in Jackson, Miss.

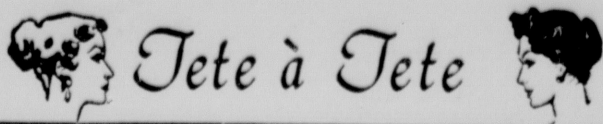

The bride is a graduate of Waterproof High School and graduated from Northeast State College where she was a member of Alpha Omicron Sorority. Mr. Grenn is a graduate of Cophiah Lincoln Junior College and attended Northeast.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Robb, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Klanke, of Houston, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ford, Mrs. Ella Magown, of Monterey, Edward Grenn, Sharon and Charlotte Culver, Jackson, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. E. F. Hoggart, Jr., Mrs. Thelma Harlow, of Natchez, Miss., Floyd Eppinette, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Giddens, Mrs. E. C. Jones, Birmingham, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. Roland Carter, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Carter, Sue Grower, Linda Fuson, Lori Harris, Jack Fryday and Mrs. Marcus Mapp, all of Monroe.

LIFT FOR LAUNDRY

One of the most important elements in a home laundry is adequate counter space for sorting and arranging soiled clothing and linens. Another function of the counter is providing a place for dampening clean items to be ironed. Obviously the counter must be covered with a waterproof surface. The ideal material for this purpose is ceramic tile. Not only is it waterproof, but it is also undamaged by heat. The latter characteristic comes in mighty handy when the phone rings and there's no place to put a hot iron but the counter.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

She Is Doubtful That She Feels Emotions

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It must be taken for granted that when a mother asks a question about a mother's emotions, she already is doubtful that she feels them.

Mrs. V. H. Writes, "I have been wondering about something which I hope you will clear up in your column. It's the feeling of motherhood. Does every woman who has a baby have it? Does it last very long, say until the children are grownup? Does it go away and is it stronger in some than in others?"

"Also, do men experience a feeling of fatherhood, or is there such a thing?"

When two people marry it is, presumably, because they love each other and cannot bear to live apart. When a child is born to them, it is a concrete expression of their love and represents, in human form, a combination of the two of them.

THOROUGHLY SELFISH

For a woman not to care for this child one would have to imagine a thoroughly selfish individual who resented the work it made for her, or did not feel pride in its appearance, or was so separated from the child by countless individuals who took over the care of the child, that it never seemed to mean anything personal to her.

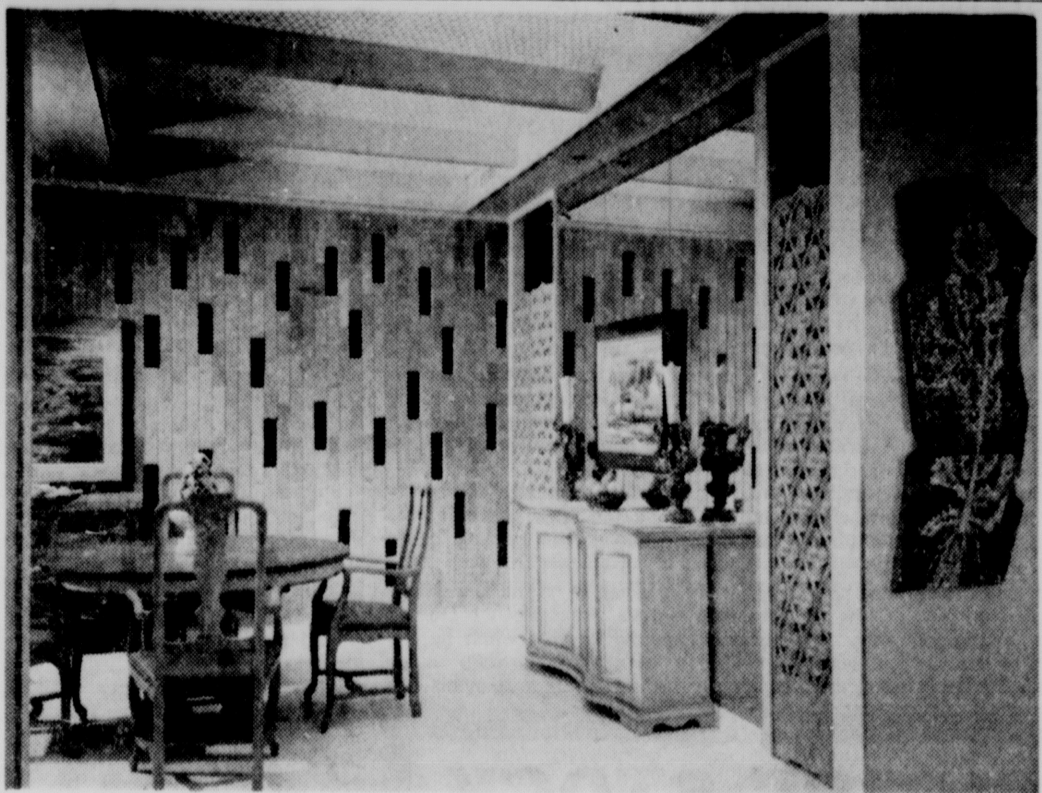

But this is hard to imagine. Mothers do the physical work of caring for children, increasingly in these days of servant scarcity. Just to feed a baby, change it, dress and put it to sleep, provides a hundred physical ties which unite the mother to the baby.

Its helplessness, its dependence upon her, its ready response to her affectionate words, create that tenderness and protective devotion which we call mother love. It is present even in the lower animals but reaches its highest perfection in man.

And we can't eliminate the father. He is a human being, too, and feels the same response to his child, though he may not have such a close relationship the first few years. But fathers, today, pinch hit in the home, taking over many of the tasks which the overburdened mothers find impossible to manage without them.

As children grow and develop personalities of their own they may be in conflict with their parents, in fact be out of tune with them. But if a father and mother truly love a child, want to do for it, protect it, lavish luxuries upon it, surround it with the warmth of their own love for each other, this emotion does not die.

In fact, a maternal or paternal emotion is essentially unselfish, thinking only of what it can give to the child and not of what it gets in return. Whatever the child is, or becomes, this love is everlasting. It could not be otherwise.

REFLECTING a new interest in unusual wall treatment is the decor of this dining room designed by Haygood Lasseter for Carolina Mirror. The sleek surface of the mirrored wall is a pleasant contrast to the rough, natural texture of the adjacent pierced brick wall. An oil painting is cleverly hung on the mirror at eye-level height of the person sitting in the chair facing it. This device eliminates the unpleasant necessity of starting at one's own face during an entire meal.

Sound Tradition For Mirrored Wall In Period As Well As Modern Room

By BETTY PEPIS

Possibly the most interesting recent development in interior decoration is the trend to add tricky treatments to walls. Such decorative backgrounds can, of course, be achieved with conventional wallpaper but the tendency lately has seemed to be to turn toward other materials for statistics show that only one quarter as much wall-paper was purchased last year as was sold back in 1945.

Modern architecture has fostered the liking for walls of natural structural materials like wood paneling, brick and ceramic tile. Newly textured and plastic wall-coverings are sturdy, easy to care for and add quiet background interest without intrusive pattern. Even vinyl tiles, originally intended for the floor, are climbing up and finding a place above the baseboard as well as below.

Along with this new interest in walls has come a revived use of an age old material—the glass mirror. Perhaps because such mirrored walls were overly popular two decades ago, they became decidedly passe for a while. But mirrors serve a functional purpose no other material can achieve so they have, of necessity, returned. The reason is that a mirrored wall is the simplest way to achieve an illusion of increased size in the smaller rooms of today.

There is a sound tradition for

M. Neighbors Charlotte Sodd Best Readers

The morning section of the Eighth Grade Book Club met yesterday with Jeanne Hill presiding and Rachael Hegge in charge of the program. Melba Neighbors was recognized as having read the most books since the last meeting as well as the best variety of books. Three of the twenty-seven members present were penalized for failing to meet the requirements of the inspectors. The club had as a new member Bobbie Rogers.

The fourth meeting of the afternoon section of the club was in charge of the vice president, Jimmie Dee Barlow. After the reports of the officers several plans were made for improving the club by following a better timing schedule, having a better seating arrangement and putting on projects during the program time. Charlotte Sodd was recognized for having read the most books since the last meeting, while Ann emotion is essentially unselfish, thinking only of what it can give to the child and not of what it gets in return. Whatever the child is, or becomes, this love is everlasting. It could not be otherwise.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Sister Worried About Brother's Marriage

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My older brother waited until he was 37 to marry. Then he selected a college graduate with a master's degree, but she doesn't know enough not to put a wet rag on a mahogany table.

It breaks my heart to see the way my brother lives. His wife boils the life out of everything, and her steaks are either burned to a crisp or bleeding.

Before he married, my brother made his home with me. Every shirt I ironed looked brand new. Now he wears shirts for three days and they look terrible. I'm sure she's never heard of starch. I've seen him with a pinned-together cuff—no button.

Shall I tell her—in a nice way, of course—a few of the secrets of homemaking? My brother never utters a word of complaint. He's so in love he's semi-conscious. All the same, his bride needs help. — JADA

Dear Jada: Say nothing. If your brother is satisfied, what do you care if he wears a shirt for a month? Perhaps when the newness of the marriage wears off he'll become less starry-eyed and his vision will improve.

An "offer to help" could be interpreted as interference. You might even find yourself persona non grata—which means plenty unwelcome, as the girl with the master's degree will explain.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently, you made the statement that leprosy is one of the LEAST contagious of all diseases.

My teacher says you are wrong. She told us about Father Damien who caught leprosy when he visited a Leper Colony then stayed with the lepers the rest of his life.

The teacher says she hopes you will be big enough to print this letter and admit your mistake because you are giving people the wrong impression. — ANDY AND JEWEL

Dear A and J: It is your teacher who is wrong. I hope SHE will be big enough to read this letter in class, because she is giving people the wrong impression.

All medical authorities who have studied leprosy (Hansen's disease) agree that it is not easily transmitted. The record at the Leprosarium in Carville, Louisiana bears this out. In over 60 years, since the colony was founded, not a single doctor or nurse has become infected.

In the case of Father Damien, some authorities say he may have had the disease when he went to the colony. It's difficult to get the authentic facts because he lived many years ago and the medical record was never clear.

Dear Ann Landers: You've said and said it and said it, but please say it once more. It may be the turning point for some drunk.

My father drank like a fish. He ruined our homelife. I remember him throwing dishes through the windows while we barricaded ourselves in the bedroom. The kids at school looked down on us because our dad was a drunk. We wore clothes given to us by neighbors who felt sorry for us. Our shoes never fit. Our trousers always had patches.

He was arrested for drunkenness time without number. The judge would release him when he appeared in court with his string of hungry-looking tots and a wan wife who was usually pregnant with another child.

I was 12 when Dad died. None of us kids were sorry to see him go. Terrible, isn't it? But true.

Alcoholism is a sickness, but it CAN be controlled. There are Rehabilitation Centers, Clinics and A.A. Chapters all over. If drunken fathers realized what they were doing to their families, they might be more receptive to the help that is available. — SON OF A SOT

Couple Pledge Troth In Home Ceremony

Of widespread interest in Oak Grove and surrounding areas was the wedding of Mrs. Hattie Grubbs to Mr. Jack Kennedy both of Oak Grove. The marriage vows were said in the home of Mrs. Grubbs at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday Feb. 1st. Reverend H. G. Hammonds, pastor of the Forest Baptist Church, officiated.

A reception followed the ceremony. The living room was decorated in white and yellow chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy will make their home in Oak Grove.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Annie Wells, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Fluit, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Harper, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Falls, Mrs. Edward Newell, Mrs. Lawrence Butler, Mrs. R. W. Rustin, Cary Phillely, and Linda Jones.

Mrs. C. S. Fluit and Mrs. Edward Newell were assisted by Mrs. Mack Russell in the hostess courtesies.

More people have been killed by automobiles than by war, but they no doubt died happier.

Care Of Feet More Important During Winter

Feet hurt more in winter than at any other time. Why? Maybe cause they're cramped all day in tight shoes. Floors are too cool in winter to exercise bare feet, as one can do in spring and summer when the barefoot theme is emphasized by that carefree feeling.

Then too, there are those overshoes that seem to pinch and burn our feet right through our shoes, and when worn for any length of time make us pretty irritable. Good leather-soled walking shoes are important too, to good foot health.

If one could exercise the feet by walking to work or part of the way home, it would help the feet. We are too tired and chilled in winter, however, to crave that brisk walk before dinner. We are only too happy to burrow back to our little bunks before the icicles mount on the hat brim.

You can keep your feet in good condition by making it a habit to do a few foot exercises in the evening. These may help shake kinks in aching leg muscles as well as help relieve an aching back. Here are some to keep in mind:

1. Stand on one foot and with one hand on a table as a brace, hold your other foot straight out as high as you can and bend the toes inward, then straighten them out again. Repeat 15 times.
2. Stand in stocking feet, roll both feet outward so your weight rests on the outside of your foot. Hold this position while you count to ten.

The marble foot exerciser can be lots of fun. Stand unsupported, picking up marbles one at a time with the toes of your right foot, transferring them to another pile as far to the left as you can reach. Then move the marbles back to their original position with your left foot.

One good foot exercise, though it sounds a little silly, is trying to turn the pages of a telephone book from the top with your toes.

A good exercise to do while relaxing in the bathtub is this one: Lie back against the bathtub and lift up your feet, out of the water, separate your toes one from the other.

Mrs. McKay Is Honored At Tea Shower In Archibald

Mrs. Lannie McKay was the honor guest at a tea shower given last Saturday afternoon in the Archibald home of Mrs. T. G. McKay. Hostesses for the occasion with Mrs. McKay were Miss Pearl Archibald, Mrs. John Logan, Mrs. Edmund Williamson, Mrs. A. L. Booth, Mrs. T. L. Gates, and Mrs. Jesse McKay.

Mrs. McKay, an aunt of the groom, welcomed the guests. In the receiving line was the honoree, who was dressed in a becoming blue wool jersey with which she wore a pink carnation corsage. Standing with her were her mother, Mrs. Cathey and Mrs. W. C. McKay, the bridegroom's mother. The reception rooms were decorated with graceful arrangements of pink camellias. Miss Ann Gillen, cousin of the groom, registered the guests who called during the party hours.

The pink theme was carried out in the dining room. The tea table covered with a white cut-work cloth over pink satin, had for its center a unique arrangement of softly glowing pink candles flanked by pink camellias entwined with lace. Mrs. T. L. Gates, of Girard assisted with the hostess courtesies.

Memory Course Saves Marriage

By DOROTHY ROE

It's awful to be married to a memory expert when you can't even remember your best friend's name.

"I literally had to take a memory course to save my marriage," says small, alert Lotte Furst. "I was working in a pharmacy when I met my husband, Dr. Bruno Furst, in our home town of Frankfurt, Germany. He was a lawyer and psychiatrist, and after our marriage I joined him in his law office, doing court stenography and other office chores.

"Everything was fine, except I never could remember anything, and he never forgot anything. Our biggest client would come in and I wouldn't remember his name. I'd forget to order the groceries and send out the laundry. It was pretty painful for both of us."

One day after Lotte had forgotten they were having guests for dinner, her husband suggested that she'd better take a course in memory training. In fact, he was teaching such a course. It was all very handy.

Lotte graduated with honors, and has been helping her husband ever since in teaching others to remember. They teach together at the Brooklyn College of Adult Education, and in their own school of memory and concentration in Manhattan.

The Fursts started their memory school in 1939, soon after arriving in New York from their native Germany. At present they figure 60,000 to 70,000 students have taken the course and now are busily remembering things all over the world.

us," says Mrs. Furst, "because after riffling through a deck we can remember the position of every card. Or after one hand of bridge is played we know where all the other cards are."

"It's all a matter of learning how to concentrate and organize your mind. Many people can't remember anything because they have too many things on their minds at once. Their bad memories are results of bad habits of thinking."

The Fursts have several methods of memory training, depending on whether the student is "eye-minded," "ear-minded" or "motor-minded." If you remember by a process of mental pictures, you are eye-minded explains Lotte, and you will have little trouble in remembering things you read.

If you remember best the things you hear, you should learn through lectures.

If you are motor-minded, you remember things in motion—acts and incidents in a movie, for instance.

TO HIGHER COURT

Davis To Angola To Await Appeal

Brodie Byron Davis, 34, goes to Angola "early next week," to await the result of an appeal to the state supreme court.

The result will determine whether he takes one step closer to the electric chair.

Davis was formally sentenced to die yesterday by Judge David I. Garrett in Fourth District Court. He had been found guilty by a 12-man jury Nov. 21 of the first-degree murder of 80-year-old Isaac C. Baker.

If his appeal to the high court fails, date of execution will be set by Gov. Earl K. Long.

Whatever emotion the husky, dark-blond Davis felt was carefully concealed, as he received the first sentence of capital punishment given in this parish in the last 25 years.

His court-appointed attorneys wasted no time. They listened to the judgment, then filed a notice to appeal the guilty verdict and death sentence to the supreme court.

Their motions to arrest judgment (which would result in a new trial) and eight bills of exceptions to the original trial had been overruled.

"NEXT WEEK"

District Attorney Albin P. Lassiter said yesterday that Davis will be transported to Angola "early next week. We won't have the papers on him ready until that time."

Sheriff Bailey Grant indicated that the department will decide on the means of transportation as soon as they receive the papers. Usually, prisoners are flown to the state penitentiary, but he qualified this by saying "we haven't decided yet whether we'll fly him down or drive."

The elderly Baker died May 15, 1958. The man was found floating in the Ouachita River, trussed and gagged. Davis was arrested May 19, indicted for murder June 17 by a special session of the Grand Jury, and arraigned on June 24.

However, his attorneys filed a plea of insanity, and it was not until a report was filed by the lunacy commission on Oct. 31 that he could be re-arraigned. He pled innocent and trial was reset for Nov. 17.

Found guilty, a motion for a new trial was filed, and overruled at a hearing on Dec. 12.

Davis maintains that he did not kill Baker. However, items in his possession, owned by Baker, pointed to him as the murderer.

Library Week Organizational Meeting Held

An organizational meeting for the selection of committees for National Library Week was held yesterday in the meeting room of the new Ouachita Parish Public Library on North 18th and Stubbs Avenue. Mrs. Wesley Shafter, chairman, presided, along with Mrs. B. W. Biedenharn.

Purpose of the meeting, as outlined by Mrs. Shafter, was to map preliminary plans for the opening of the new library headquarters building during National Library Week, April 12 through 18. The opening house and formal opening of the building is slated for April 12.

Committees and their chairmen will be: Exhibits, Monroe, Mrs. C. D. Oakley; Exhibits, West Monroe, Mrs. D. C. Brothers; Ouachita Parish Schools, Mrs. W. W. Ward; Monroe City Schools, Miss Geneva Washburn; Parochial Schools, Sister Magdalene; Men's Clubs, Mike John, Jr.; Women's Clubs, Mrs. J. B. Kugler; Churches, Dr. James F. Horton; Book-sellers, G. E. Boggs; Open House, Mrs. DeWitt Milam; and Publicity, James Plaisance.

M. W. Montgomery, president of the Ouachita parish police jury, Mayor W. L. Howard of Monroe, and West Monroe Mayor Allan Norris, are also being asked to work with the groups.

The new headquarters library building, which is nearing completion, will be thrown open to the public on Sunday, April 12, the first day of the national observance of Library Week. The special week is set aside each year to stress the importance, both as a source of information and a source of pleasure, which is gained through reading. Library officials felt the formal opening of the new building on the special day would add greatly to the importance of this week.

Log Carriage Accident Victim 'Resting Well'

JONESBORO (Special)—The 57-year-old victim of a near-fatal log carriage accident yesterday was "resting well" last night in the Robinson Clinic here but the outcome of his injuries will not be known until 72 hours elapse from the time of the injury.

Members of Clyde Roden's family and hospital officials said the Danville man was in "fair condition" late yesterday, following a throw from a log carriage at Hunt Lumber Company.

He suffered head injuries, amputation of three fingers, and undetermined back injuries when the carriage apparently went out of control and flipped Roden out, against a sharp-edged saw.

Willie Boston, Bienville Negro also thrown off in the mishap, received head and shoulder injuries.

NEW ANTI-DIABETIC DRUG

New York (UPI)—U.S. Vitamin Corp. said it will begin marketing DBI, a new oral anti-diabetic drug, this April or May. The company said although the drug is not a cure, it attacks diabetic symptoms, reversing the diabetic's refusal to utilize body sugars.

The Suez Canal is open, but with respect to its operation, Nasser's mind is still closed.

KEEP U.S. INFORMED

Detection Stations Shock To Soviets

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The statement that American detection stations are effectively riding Soviet military air frequencies is calculated to cause considerable shock to Khrushchev & Co.

(This is written on the assumption that Washington checked, checked and double-checked before it published the purported transcript of conversation between Red pilots as they were shooting down an American transport plane. Somehow, the voice of experience cautions that there may be more to this case than has been told.)

Years ago there were reports from people in a position to know that high-flying American reconnaissance planes were penetrating deeply into the Soviet Union.

The Kremlin was supposed to have declined to protest because it did not wish to reveal that its interceptor planes of that time were incapable of attaining the necessary altitudes for interference. Interception attempts and wild shots in the sky were reported.

For security purposes, the United States is not revealing how it obtained the transcription of that conversation uttered over Soviet Armenia.

It is not the first time, however, that detection devices have enabled the United States to announce what is going on in the Soviet Union.

Chief among these demonstrations of constant surveillance have been the prompt announcements from Washington of Soviet atomic blasts, long before there has been any public word of them in Moscow.

There has also been evidence that electronic eyes keep a close watch across over the Soviet horizon for the launching of missiles. Intelligence about other phases of the Communist military program is vastly more difficult to obtain.

The United States has, however, managed to keep up fairly well with concentrations of the Red army. In 1948, when the world's chancelleries were in very real fear of war as an outgrowth of the conflict produced by the Berlin blockade, U.S. intelligence was able to pass the word that the pattern of Soviet troop deployment did not fit any such suspicion.

Soviet officialdom, Czarist as well as Communist, has always displayed a deep-seated desire for secrecy on all vital matters. To have this punctured, as well as the artificially produced Iron Curtain, must be a vastly disturbing thing for them.

When they complained recently about what they call the Western espionage setup in Berlin they may have been using indirectness, being more taken aback by developments elsewhere.

City Courts

MONROE

Monroe City Judge W. M. Harper sentenced a 37-year-old Vivian man yesterday for driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Court records identified him as Bert Luzader who was fined $400 or seven months.

In other action Harper fined nine persons on drunkenness charges, two for reckless driving, two drew jail sentences for vagrancy, and four persons were fined on traffic violations.

WEST MONROE

Two fines were levied in West Monroe City Court yesterday with Judge Jasper E. Jones presiding. One person was fined $25 and costs or 2 days on a reckless driving charge, and the other drew the same fine on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Four persons forfeited bond. One forfeited $5.50 on a charge of running a red light, another forfeited $3.50 on a charge of running a stop sign, and two others each forfeited $35 on charges of disturbing the peace.

Two Speeches Delivered By Leon Pearson

Leon Pearson, NBC international reporter and commentator, spoke to a near capacity filled Brown Auditorium at Northeast State College yesterday. His address was titled "Critic at Large."

Beginning with a not too favorable thumbnail review of a Broadway musical, Pearson covered such topics as play production, degeneracy as the salient American dramatic theme, Boris Pasternak's Nobel prize winning novel and southern reconstruction.

In discussing "The Redhead," which opened in New York Thursday night, the journalist said the musical just did not measure up to the "high class" standard set by such productions as "Oklahoma," "Guys and Dolls" and "South Pacific."

He explained that a "high class" play did not attain that status by lavish costumes and sets alone, but also by good writing and acting and often an underlying serious theme.

INDICATED

Pearson indicated the reason for sexual perversion, alcoholism and sundry other sordid topics in modern American drama employed by such playwrights as Eugene O'Neill, Arthur Miller and Tennessee Williams was because average situations and characters did not lend themselves as easily to dramatic portrayal.

The commentator contrasted communistic atheism with a passage from Pasternak's novel, "Doctor Zhivago," in which the author gives his view of the tremendous impact upon the world by Christ.

Concluding, Pearson extolled "The Angry Scar," a book dealing with the aftermath of the Civil War and its tragic effect upon the south, written by Hodding Carter, a Greenville, Miss. editor and publisher.

Another address was given by Pearson at the college last night on "World News Today."

Monroe Training School Escapees Admit Car Theft

ANTLERS, Okla. (AP)—Three youths who escaped from a state training school at Monroe, La., have pleaded guilty to car theft charges and will face trial next Wednesday.

Pushmataha County Sheriff County Lawrence Wade identified the boys as Jerry James De-laughter and George Murphy, each 16, and Jerry McLain, 15.

He said they pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Carl Ozman and waived preliminary hearing.

Wade said the boys stole a car after their escape, before taking the car at Antlers. The second car was abandoned in Pushmataha County although the boys were caught in adjoining Atoka County, he said.

Data Provided On Tax Filing

Farmers and ranchers who by-passed the January 15 deadline for filing estimates of 1958 income should file their final 1958 Federal income tax return by Monday, February 16, 1959, to avoid penalty, it was announced by John L. Tolar, administrative officer of the Internal Revenue Service in Monroe.

Filing requirements for farmers-ranchers are simply detailed in Internal Revenue's "Farmers' Tax Guide," (1959 Edition), available at no cost from agricultural agents and IRS offices.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

FULL MILITARY HONORS
Victims Of Soviet Attack Get Burial

WASHINGTON (AP)—On a sun-splotted windy hillside in Arlington National Cemetery, two unknown airmen were buried Friday with full military honors.

A sobbing woman looked on. She was the widow, perhaps, of one of them. No one could know.

These men were among the victims of what the State Department has said was a merciless attack by Soviet fighter planes on an unarmed American transport which strayed into Soviet Armenia last Sept. 2.

Bodies of 6 of the 17 men aboard were turned over to this country by Soviet officials. Four of the six were identified, and were buried by their families last fall.

The two whose remains could not be identified were laid to rest by their government in Arlington. Hope lingered that something yet may be learned of what happened to the other 11 who were aboard the plane.

A state department spokesman said: "We hope that in the light of the revelation of the facts and the shock to world opinion that it has produced, the Soviet government will come forward with facts on this case."

So far the Soviets have admitted nothing. They reported only that there was a crash.

The two unknown dead were buried in adjoining graves not far from the spot where lie the unknown servicemen of three wars.

These newest two died only in a cold war. But, said Lt. Col. Robert W. Tindall, Protestant Air Force chaplain, "We are a grateful nation and people, with heroic hearts."

Protestant and Roman Catholic services were held in the red brick chapel at Ft. Myer, Va., and at the graveside.

Most of those present wore the dusky blue of Air Force uniforms. There were privates, and there were generals, headed by Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff. There were a few civilians and a few women.

One among them was Mrs. Arthur L. Mello of Erie, Pa. Her husband, a technical sergeant, was on the transport that went down and he wasn't among the four identified dead.

With head bowed, eyes closed, she listened to the prayers and hymns and the familiar, comforting biblical passages.

A cutting winter wind swept past the grave.

Mrs. Mello sobbed and brought her handkerchief to her eyes. She jumped at the three rifle volleys at the conclusion. Her shoulders shook while the mournful notes of "Taps" echoed across the hillside.

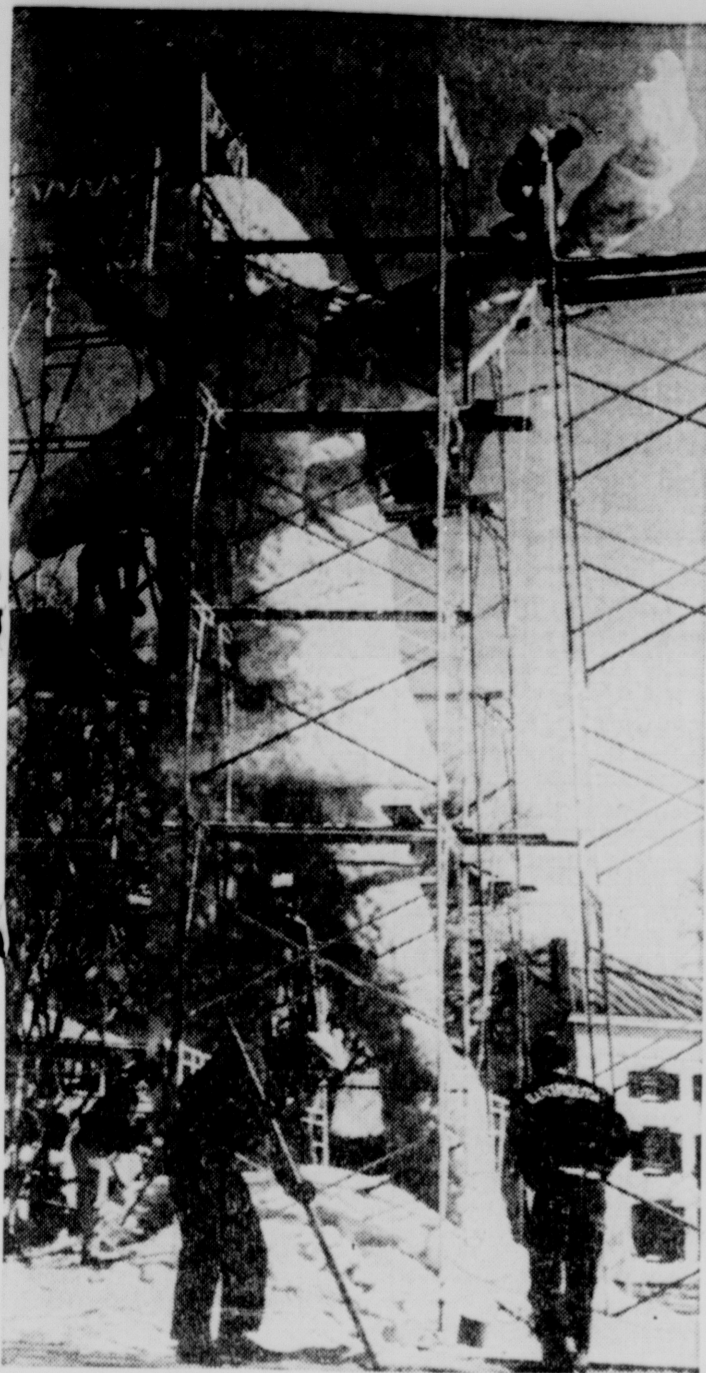

No other next of kin of any of the missing was present. But there were Senate and House members from the states and districts of some of the missing men. Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas was present, with Asst. Defense Secretary Murray Snyder and Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy.

WANT REDS FREED

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — A "democratic" group of teachers, writers, intellectuals and doctors issued a statement Thursday appealing to the United Arab Republic to release imprisoned Communists. The statement also called for a halt to newspaper criticism between the two countries and asked the U.A.R. to help protect Iraq against "imperialism, our sole enemy, and its leader, America."

Overheard, father of seven speaking: "I'm about to be eaten out of house and home by a certain family — mine."

Former Premier Agrees To Form Regime In Italy

ROME (UPI)—Former Premier Antonio Segni agreed Friday night to try to form a new government for Italy.

The middle of the road Christian Democrat, who is 68, accepted the nomination of premier-designate from President Giovanni Gronchi, who asked him to lead Italy out of a political crisis now 12 days old.

The silver-haired gentleman farmer was expected to try to form a center or center-right government to replace the center-left coalition of Amintore Fanfani, who resigned Jan. 27.

It is now up to Segni, a Sardinian, to force a new government, appoint ministries, and face parliament for a confidence test.

Two Former Nazi Guards Given Life

BONN, Germany (UPI) — A West German court Friday convicted two former Nazi concentration camp guards of multiple murder and sentenced them to life imprisonment at hard labor. The defendants were "Iron Gustav" Sorge and Wilhelm "Pistol" Schubert who served as SS guard of the infamous Esterwege and the Sachsenhausen concentration camps from about 1935 until their

Profiteering By Official Is Charged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Los Angeles Teamsters official was accused Friday of shaking down businessmen, profiting at his own testimonial dinner, and taking a trip with a lady friend at union expense.

Witnesses before the Senate Rackets Committee leveled these and other charges of misdeeds against Mike Singer, business agent of Los Angeles Teamster Local 626.

Called before the committee, Singer invoked the Fifth Amendment's privilege against possible self-incrimination in refusing to say whether he was the "personal ambassador" of Teamsters Presiding trips to Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

He also declined to say whether he was ever a member of the Communist Party or advanced the cause of Communism during a trip to Honolulu.

The chief witnesses against Singer were Morris Gurewitz and Ben. H. Cohen, Los Angeles rendering plant operators. They accused Singer of using his union power to exercise control over the waste grease processing industry in the Los Angeles area. Gurewitz, an ulcer sufferer who sipped milk as he testified, blamed Singer for agitating his ulcers. He estimated that the Teamster official's activities cost him $200,000 in profits over a period of four or five years.

Gurewitz and Cohen testified that Singer forced them to turn over 20 to 20 per cent of their business to a competitor who was a friend of Singer. They said they were also compelled to contribute $1,000 each to help buy an automobile for Singer. Staff investigator Pierre Salinger testified that $3,300 was collected from rendering plant operators for the new Oldsmobile which was presented to an apparently-surprised Singer at a testimonial dinner.

"This was just a cheap shake-down racket, wasn't it?" asked committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.).

"It wasn't too cheap for me," "That was the highest priced squab I ever ate in my life." With Singer on the witness stand, committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy commented that the union paid $1,357 in expenses for Singer and an unidentified female companion during the organizing trip to Honolulu last year.

capture by the Allies in World War II.

The court's decision ended a four-month trial during which more than 150 witnesses brought from all over the world testified to acts of brutality committed by the two guards.

Sorge received 67 life terms to run concurrently, Schubert, 46. Each man received one life sentence for each murder of which he was found guilty.

In addition, the men received an extra 15-year sentence for indirect participation in other killings.

Both men had been sentenced by a Soviet military court in 1946 to life imprisonment at hard labor for participation in the murder of more than 10,000 Russian war prisoners. They were released in early 1956, however, when Russia agreed to return some Germans still held prisoner.

During the trial here, a parade of witnesses painted an awesome picture of brutal conditions imposed by the two guards at the camps. Witnesses testified the guards often "welcomed" new prisoners by beating them senseless, or suffocated them by holding their heads beneath the surface of latrine trenches.

Other testimony said the two men sometimes exterminated prisoners by lining them against a wall, placing pistols through knot holes in the wooden partitions and shooting the victims in the back of the head.
